U.S. Mops Up at Plei Me

Move for Mistrial In Slaying Case Denied by Judge

A motion for a mistrial was overruled today by Common Pleas Judge William Ammer as the Cleo V. Keaton first-degree murder trial entered its third day.

Defense Attorney Emmanuel Nadlin made the motion in the judge's chambers before proceedings got under way. He claimed that a picture used in a Columbus newspaper today violated the privacy of his client.

The photo showed Keaton, handcuffed, being taken from the courthouse to the jail by several officers.

Judge Ammer overruled the motion and told Nadlin "it is not a matter concerned with this trial." Nadlin lodged his complaint again, but to no avail.

* * *

AS A RESULT of the publicity being given the murder trial, both attorneys and the judge agreed to call in the remainder of persons waiting in the courthouse lobby that had been summoned for possible jury duty.

The court instructed the entire venire, in the absence of those already seated, that Keaton is on trial for his life and that duties of a juror "cannot be taken lightly."

"While waiting, please refrain from reading newspapers or discussing this matter among yourselves or with others," the judge stated.

Ammer told the throng of prospective jurors that if anyone should approach them to discuss the case, it should be reported to a deputy and brought to the attention of the court for proper action.

At noon today there were still only 11 jurors seated, all of them still subject to a peremptory challenge by either Nadlin or Prosecuting Attorney Robert H. Huffer.

The first 12 were seated at about 3:45 p. m. yesterday. But through a peremptory challenge by Huffer, Mrs. Rhea J. Crist, 600 Ridgewood Drive, was dismissed. Huffer had previously challenged her for cause, but she was approved in spite of Huffer's objection by Judge Ammer.

Showdown Hinted for Dominicans

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Members of the Dominican Republic's shaky provisional government appeared today to be nearing a showdown over whether to fire the top leaders of the armed forces.

The danger of more large-scale violence was believed ruled out by the presence of the 10,000-man Inter-American Peace Force patrolling the capital.

But there was a possibility that the long and costly rehabilitation program for the country might be dealt a serious setback if President Hector Garcia-Godoy was forced out by the crisis. Then the Organization of American States would be faced with the task of creating a new provisional regime.

The prevailing view in influential circles was that the major portion of Garcia-Godoy's Cabinet, sympathetic to the rebel cause, would resign if the president did not immediately fire the armed forces secretary, Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, and the chiefs of staff of the army, navy and air force.

The president was reported unwilling to take this decisive step because the U.S. government and the OAS had made clear that they considered such action undesirable at this time. Garcia-Godoy reportedly does not wish to alienate the only source of badly needed economic support for the country, which is on the brink of bankruptcy.

Moscow Seen Behind Peace Parley Drive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Moscow may be getting up steam behind a drive to isolate Red China's warlike policies and create conditions in which Viet Nam peace talks could be held.

A clue to thinking in the Moscow bloc — at a time when Kremlin patience with Peking seems near the breaking point — came in a broadcast from Czechoslovakia. It contained one of the most outspoken condemnations of China's Viet Nam policy from a Communist source and carried a hint of division in the Viet Cong leadership over peace talk demands.

The broadcast concerned a statement in Finland last week by the Moscow representative of the National Front for Liberation of South Viet Nam — NFLSV — the Viet Cong's political front. It came at a time when an international Communist meeting was in session in Prague, and it is unlikely that it could reflect anything but an official view.

The Prague version of the Viet Cong representative's remarks to a group of students differed to a degree from a report carried by Helsinki newspapers. The difference was one of shading — perhaps indicating wishful thinking.

According to the Helsinki papers, he said "relations between China and the Viet Cong are not very warm, even now." In this version he repeated Communist demands that the Americans withdraw completely from South Viet Nam and end raids on the North as preconditions for talks. Then, when asked if U.S. withdrawal was a fixed precondition, he replied: "It does not matter if they are there or not, as long as they accept our final conditions."

The Prague radio's version went this way:

"Nguyen Van Dong, NFLSV representative in Moscow, said that relations between the Viet

Booby-Trap Doll Scare Was Never Valid, Army Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Defense Department spokesman said today the booby-trapped doll scare is a dead issue and never was a valid one.

The scare developed late last week from a report the Army had sent out an urgent call for people to turn in souvenir dolls sent to them from Viet Nam because of a danger that these dolls might have been booby trapped and thus might be in danger of exploding.

Officials said the report was a distortion of an offer by Army officers at Ft. Benning, Ga., to have their explosive experts examine any dolls owners feared might be booby trapped. Various military bases and commands were deluged with inquiries.

The Pentagon spokesman said the scare lasted about 24 hours, until last Saturday evening. By then, he said, authorities had managed to get the word out that there was nothing to fear from the dolls.

Ohio Idle Total Drops

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's unemployment dropped from an estimated 181,000 in August to 100,000 in September, or from 3.3 to 2.5 per cent of the civilian labor force the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported Tuesday.

Hospital's Financial, Operating Problems Viewed at Public Meet

Many of the problems associated with the financial operation at Berger Hospital were reviewed last night during an old-fashioned "town meeting" type session at the St. Philip's Church Parish House.

The public meet was called by a Citizens Committee and the hospital's General Guild as a continued effort to promote a half-mill levy that would supplement Berger's general operating fund. Approximately 35 persons participated.

Most of the questions concerning Berger functions were directed to a panel formed for this purpose. Robert M. Johnson, chairman of the Citizens Committee, served as moderator. Members were Emmitt Crist and Henry Schroeder of the Berger Board of Governors, City Councilmen Frank Barnhill and Dr. Ray Carroll of the hospital staff.

* * *

JOHNSON opened the meeting by offering a review of the levy proposal and commenting on why it is needed. He reaffirmed the Citizens Committee contention that a progressive community must have a hospital and the best possible medical services it can provide.

Berger's current financial crisis was defined as the reasoning behind the levy proposal. According to administrators, the hospital at present is faced with a deficit of about $35,000.

Chairman Johnson pointed out that this is the first time the hospital has asked for public funds for operating expenses. Several requests have been made in the past for countywide assistance for building and expansion programs.

In retrospect, last night's session seemed to lead to the conclusion that many factors have combined in creating Berger's financial dilemma It was reflected several times that the lack of patient occupancy constitutes the foremost problem. Reasons for this particular handicap mounted as the discussion period progressed.

Statistical information noting that more than 50 per cent of Pickaway County patients go elsewhere prompted considerable debate. Additional comments were directed to the contention that too many welfare patients are sent to Columbus and other hospitals, yet county funds are used to pay the bills.

Other questions centered on the prospects of acquiring a res-

Plane Hijacker Is Subdued

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—High above the Florida Keys Capt. K.I. Carlile faced a decision aboard National Airlines Flight 209 from Miami to Key West:

He could obey the desperate commands of an armed Cuban exile and fly the plane on to Havana, or he could gamble and attempt to overpower him.

Carlile decided to gamble, and with the help of his crew disarmed the would-be hijacker Tuesday. The plane landed at Key West at 1:09 p.m. (EST), only nine minutes late.

The exile, Luis Medina Perez, 20, who said he wanted to see his family in Cuba, was wounded and taken prisoner in the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion. He was one of 60 prisoners returned to the United States April 14, 1962.

Perez pleaded guilty Tuesday to attempted piracy of an airplane—a federal offense which could carry the death penalty—and was held here in default of $25,000 bond.

The propjet Electra, with a crew of five and 27 passengers including Medina, was 20 minutes out of Miami when the control tower at Miami International Airport got its first word of the incident.

"Have a man on airplane with gun holding it on stewardess," radioed Copilot D.S. McDaniel, 29. "He wants to go to Havana."

The FBI said Medina was armed with a BB target pistol which he concealed in a paper bag so that only the butt protruded.

BI Agent Ralph Jensen of Key West said this made the pistol look like a 45-caliber automatic.

Carlile and his crew got the man into the pilot's compartment and seated him on a jump seat. Flight Engineer John W. Wiedenmann, 38, slipped a fire ax to Carlile. The pilot used it to pinion the hand in which the passenger held the pistol.

"He saw the situation then and he decided to behave," said Carlile.

New Racial Display in Dixie Hinted

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A series of conferences behind closed doors in Atlanta set the stage for possible new racial demonstrations in the South and what could be a solution to the school desegregation problem in Georgia's Taliaferro County.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. cut sort a European tour to return to Atlanta Tuesday because, he said, he was "outraged at the acquittal of Collie Leroyf Wilkins in Hayneville, Ala."

The Negro integration leader reported a similar reaction in Europe to the jury's verdict last Friday in the case of the 22-year-old Ku Klux Klansman charged with the slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, a Detroit civil rights worker.

"It appears urgent that the civil rights movement must voice all its influenceiin insisting on the proper administration of justice," King said. "I think it necessary to dramatize what has happend at a very high level and Hayneville occupies a symbolic position."

Then he met with his aides in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to plan the demonstrations.

1964 Miss America To File for Divorce

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Miss America of 1964, Donna Axum Buckley of El Dorado, Ark., says she plans to divorce her husband of less than a year.

Mrs. Buckley, who won the Miss America title in September 1963, said in an interview her marriage to Michael Alan Buckley, 23, of Bloomington, Ill., "just didn't work out."

The signs carried by the pickets Tuesday read, "War is not for children" and "Don't toy with war." The group's name: Playful, Educational Artifacts for Children Everywhere — PEACE.

Radically New Methods Due in Law Enforcement

WASHINGTON (AP) — At precinct headquarters, a policeman checks an instrument panel to see if the doors of all merchants in the area are locked for the night.

On the street, a patrolman takes careful aim at a fleeing suspect, fires his weapon and brings him down, asleep and unharmed — with a tranquilizer dart.

If this doesn't sound like any police department you've ever heard of, wait a while — it may figure in police work of the future. The federal government is pitching in to try to streamline law enforcement at state and local levels as part of the Johnson administration's "war on crime."

After long years of staying out of "crime in the streets," the federal government is going to spend $7,249,000 in hopes of modernizing police department, court and correctional practices.

"Of course, we're not going to do it all in the three-year life of the Law Enforcement Assistance Act," said Courtney A. Evans, a former FBI official who has been given the job of putting the new law to work and earmarking the federal money for local projects.

"We're just hoping the little bit of money we can invest will result in substantial benefits to many persons beyond the immediate field of law enforcement," Evans, 51, said in an interview. "Perhaps we can set up some models in law enforcement for others to copy and record and disseminate what's been learned so that it becomes the literature of law enforcement."

Evans expects the first demonstration grants will be distributed in January and will range between $20,000 and $150,000.

Much of the impetus for application of the new law will come from suggestions of the National and District of Columbia crime commissions, Evans said. Meanwhile his office plans to recruit a panel of scientists to study the application of modern science to law enforcement.

"I think we have to generate additional, radically new applications of scientific methods to law enforcement," he said. "Police still go on patrols in 1965 as they did in 1700, and patrols are primarily used to prevent and detect crime.

"Why can't we develop a whole new field of scientific research devoted to law enforcement just as we did when we decided to explore outer space?"

High Moral Teens Are Given Credit

CINCINNATTI (AP)—With all the talk about teen-agers and sex, a New York social scientist thinks what is needed is "a new kind of Kinsey Report."

"We need to make a study of the teen-ager who doesn't 'give in' to belong to the group —the one who is 'chicken' and goes home," said Dr. Celia S. Deschin of Adelphi College's graduate school of social work.

Dr. Deschin, here to speak at the 75th annual Ohio Welfare Conference, said some persons think such youngsters who refuse to conform in order to belong suffer an emotional disturbance. She said she doubts it.

Modified Space Rendezvous Set

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The next U.S. manned Gemini flight will include a modified space rendezvous, called station keeping, it was learned today.

Details of Gemini 7's flight plan came to light as engineers and scientists sought causes for the failure of an Agena rocket, which canceled the first actual attempt to rendezvous and dock two satellites in space Monday.

Station keeping is similar to airplanes flying in formation. Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., the Gemini 7 astronauts, will try to keep within 100 to 300 feet of their Titan 2 second-stage booster for two and one-half orbits.

The United States attempted rendezvous exercises on the last three Gemini missions. All failed.

Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, the Gemini 4 astronauts, tried to "fly in formation" with their booster but could not keep up with it. They had to cancel the experiment when fuel ran low.

While Borman and Lovell are flying along with their booster, they will take pictures and make radiation readings of the burned-out rocket shell.

After 3 hours and 56 minutes of station keeping, astronaut Borman, of Tucson, Ariz., will fire his 9 and 10 aft rocket thrusters for 54 seconds to climb into a safe orbit for the 331-hour and 18-minute, 209-orbit trip.

This maneuver will take place over Australia. The Titan 2 booster section will gradually slip into the atmosphere and burn up. The Gemini spacecraft would return the same way if the firing to boost the orbit were not executed over Australia.

Gemini 7 was expected to be launched about Dec. 10 but could be moved up as near as Thanksgiving. The flight is primarily a medical data gathering mission.

Berger Hospital Questions and Answers

Q. How much will the proposed levy cost taxpayers?

A. The half-mill levy amounts to 50 cents per $1,000 of tax valuation. Tax valuations in Pickaway County are approximately 40 per cent of market values. A property owner with a valuation of $5,000 would pay $2.50 per year.

Viet Rangers Repulse Cong, Killing 101

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—While U.S. troops fanned out around Plei Me in mopup operations, a toll of 101 Viet Cong dead was claimed today in fighting only 20 miles northwest of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman reported the heavy Communist casualties were suffered in an attack by an estimated two battalions of Viet Cong on a Vietnamese ranger battalion camped at Duc Lap.

Government casualties were termed moderate. American advisers with the rangers suffered light casualties, but all returned to duty after treatment, the spokesman said.

The Viet Cong hit the ranger camp at Duc Lap last June and again last month. The attack early today followed the same pattern — a barrage by mortars and small arms and then an assault on the camp.

The rangers fought back, and artillery and air assaults were made quickly on the attackers. The spokesman credited the repulse of the attack and the

Pneumonia Not Polio, Killed Boy

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — For six of his 11 years, Audie Barrett of Nashville had suffered from polio. Late Monday, he complained of pains in his heart, so his 28-year-old mother placed him in his iron lung and began hand-pumping the apparatus, because electric service to the home had been discontinued.

Four hours later, he died — not of the polio which first struck him the day after his father died in 1959, but of lobar pneumonia.

"The lung would have made no difference whatever," said the medical examiner, Dr. W.J. Core, after an autopsy.

Core said the youth had a "well-established" case of pneumonia in the right lung and a lesser case in the left. He estimated that the pneumonia was contracted several days ago.

In September, Mrs. Helen Barrett, a widow with five children, moved into the house with her five children. She failed to notify the municipal Nashville Electric Service of the move.

Officails of the electric service thought the house was vacant. Last Friday, having received no request for service, they turned off the power. The officials said no one had applied for service there since another tenant moved out in June. The company said it was unaware an iron lung was in use at the address.

Draft Chief Says Men over 26 Have Little To Fear for While

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deputy director of the Selective Service said today that men over 26 have little to fear from the draft at this time — the bumper crop of postwar babies is filling the bill to a great extent.

"Under present circumstances, I don't anticipate that we'll be getting into men over 26," Col. Daniel O. Omer said in an interview. "Right now about 150,000 to 160,000 youths a month are coming into their 19th birthday, and this year about 2 million men will reach the age of 18."

Under present law, youths under 19 cannot be drafted. But Omer estimated that about 30 per cent, or 600,000, of the 2 million 18-year-olds will be eligible for induction next year. About 40 per cent will be excused because of school, he said.

As for the 19-year-olds, Omer said that a large number of them will enlist.

"Always when draft calls are high, enlistments are up," he said. "Right now enlistments are good.

"Last month we had calls for 27,000 men, and 33,000 men enlisted after they were examined and found acceptable."

Because of the great number of volunteers, he said, "we missed our call by a few men — about 500.

"So we sort of feel that we were responsible for getting many men into the service who probably would not have enlisted if they hadn't known the call was large and they were acceptable."

Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Marine commandant, said Tuesday that the Marine Corps may be able to eliminate part of its draft calls because of increasing volunteers.

In a talk at Los Angeles, Greene said the corps hopes to increase its manpower by 30,000 men within the next five months.

Effort To Divert To Havana Fails

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—High above the Florida Keys Capt. K.I. Carlile faced a decision aboard National Airlines Flight 209 from Miami to Key West:

He could obey the desperate commands of an armed Cuban exile and fly the plane on to Havana, or he could gamble and attempt to overpower him.

Carlile decided to gamble, and with the help of his crew disarmed the would-be hijacker Tuesday. The plane landed at Key West at 1:09 p.m. (EST), only nine minutes late.

The exile, Luis Medina Perez, 20, who said he wanted to see his family in Cuba, was wounded and taken prisoner in the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion. He was one of 60 prisoners returned to the United States April 14, 1962.

Perez pleaded guilty Tuesday to attempted piracy of an airplane—a federal offense which could carry the death penalty—and was held here in default of $25,000 bond.

The propjet Electra, with a crew of five and 27 passengers including Medina, was 20 minutes out of Miami when the control tower at Miami International Airport got its first word of the incident.

"Have a man on airplane with gun holding it on stewardess," radioed Copilot D.S. McDaniel, 29. "He wants to go to Havana."

Capt. Carlile, 46, filled in the details after the plane landed at Key West.

The FBI said Medina was armed with a BB target pistol which he concealed in a paper bag so that only the butt protruded.

BI Agent Ralph Jensen of Key West said this made the pistol look like a 45-caliber automatic.

Carlile and his crew got the man into the pilot's compartment and seated him on a jump seat. Flight Engineer John W. Wiedenmann, 38, slipped a fire ax to Carlile. The pilot used it to pinion the hand in which the passenger held the pistol.

"He saw the situation then and he decided to behave," said Carlile.

Youths Picket War Toy Plant

A marcher, John Gazurian, explained that with the approach of Christmas, it's hypocritical to preach "peace on earth, good will toward men" and "then give the kid a machine gun."

The signs carried by the pickets Tuesday read, "War is not for children" and "Don't toy with war." The group's name: Playful, Educational Artifacts for Children Everywhere — PEACE.

Senator To Speak

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore., will speak during a noon assembly at Oberlin College Thursday on the topic "Does American Foreign Policy Wear a False Mask?"

Radically New Methods Due in Law Enforcement

WASHINGTON (AP) — At precinct headquarters, a policeman checks an instrument panel to see if the doors of all merchants in the area are locked for the night.

On the street, a patrolman takes careful aim at a fleeing suspect, fires his weapon and brings him down, asleep and unharmed — with a tranquilizer dart.

If this doesn't sound like any police department you've ever heard of, wait a while — it may figure in police work of the future. The federal government is pitching in to try to streamline law enforcement at state and local levels as part of the Johnson administration's "war on crime."

After long years of staying out of "crime in the streets," the federal government is going to spend $7,249,000 in hopes of modernizing police department, court and correctional practices.

"Of course, we're not going to do it all in the three-year life of the Law Enforcement Assistance Act," said Courtney A. Evans, a former FBI official who has been given the job of putting the new law to work and earmarking the federal money for local projects.

"We're just hoping the little bit of money we can invest will result in substantial benefits to many persons beyond the immediate field of law enforcement," Evans, 51, said in an interview. "Perhaps we can set up some models in law enforcement for others to copy and record and disseminate what's been learned so that it becomes the literature of law enforcement."

Evans expects the first demonstration grants will be distributed in January and will range between $20,000 and $150,000.

Much of the impetus for application of the new law will come from suggestions of the National and District of Columbia crime commissions, Evans said. Meanwhile his office plans to recruit a panel of scientists to study the application of modern science to law enforcement.

"I think we have to generate additional, radically new applications of scientific methods to law enforcement," he said. "Police still go on patrols in 1965 as they did in 1700, and patrols are primarily used to prevent and detect crime.

"Why can't we develop a whole new field of scientific research devoted to law enforcement just as we did when we decided to explore outer space?"

High Moral Teens Are Given Credit

CINCINNATTI (AP)—With all the talk about teen-agers and sex, a New York social scientist thinks what is needed is "a new kind of Kinsey Report."

"We need to make a study of the teen-ager who doesn't 'give in' to belong to the group —the one who is 'chicken' and goes home," said Dr. Celia S. Deschin of Adelphi College's graduate school of social work.

Dr. Deschin, here to speak at the 75th annual Ohio Welfare Conference, said some persons think such youngsters who refuse to conform in order to belong suffer an emotional disturbance. She said she doubts it.

Blind Worker Robbed Of 75 Cents by Pair

DETROIT (AP) — Ronald Utting, 23, who is blind, rakes leaves and does other odd jobs to add to his $50 a month state pension. Two men came up behind him this week, pinioned his arms, and stole the 75 cents be had received for a raking job.

Modified Space Rendezvous Set

Details of Gemini 7's flight plan came to light as engineers and scientists sought causes for the failure of an Agena rocket, which canceled the first actual attempt to rendezvous and dock two satellites in space Monday.

Station keeping is similar to airplanes flying in formation. Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., the Gemini 7 astronauts, will try to keep within 100 to 300 feet of their Titan 2 second-stage booster for two and one-half orbits.

The United States attempted rendezvous exercises on the last three Gemini missions. All failed.

Air Force Lt. Col. James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, the Gemini 4 astronauts, tried to "fly in formation" with their booster but could not keep up with it. They had to cancel the experiment when fuel ran low.

While Borman and Lovell are flying along with their booster, they will take pictures and make radiation readings of the burned-out rocket shell.

After 3 hours and 56 minutes of station keeping, astronaut Borman, of Tucson, Ariz., will fire his 9 and 10 aft rocket thrusters for 54 seconds to climb into a safe orbit for the 331-hour and 18-minute, 209-orbit trip.

This maneuver will take place over Australia. The Titan 2 booster section will gradually slip into the atmosphere and burn up. The Gemini spacecraft would return the same way if the firing to boost the orbit were not executed over Australia.

Gemini 7 was expected to be launched about Dec. 10 but could be moved up as near as Thanksgiving. The flight is primarily a medical data gathering mission.

Viet Rangers Repulse Cong, Killing 101

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—While U.S. troops fanned out around Plei Me in mopup operations, a toll of 101 Viet Cong dead was claimed today in fighting only 20 miles northwest of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman reported the heavy Communist casualties were suffered in an attack by an estimated two battalions of Viet Cong on a Vietnamese ranger battalion camped at Duc Lap.

Government casualties were termed moderate. American advisers with the rangers suffered light casualties, but all returned to duty after treatment, the spokesman said.

The Viet Cong hit the ranger camp at Duc Lap last June and again last month. The attack early today followed the same pattern — a barrage by mortars and small arms and then an assault on the camp.

The rangers fought back, and artillery and air assaults were made quickly on the attackers. The spokesman credited the repulse of the attack and the

Pneumonia Not Polio, Killed Boy

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — For six of his 11 years, Audie Barrett of Nashville had suffered from polio. Late Monday, he complained of pains in his heart, so his 28-year-old mother placed him in his iron lung and began hand-pumping the apparatus, because electric service to the home had been discontinued.

Four hours later, he died — not of the polio which first struck him the day after his father died in 1959, but of lobar pneumonia.

"The lung would have made no difference whatever," said the medical examiner, Dr. W.J. Core, after an autopsy.

Core said the youth had a "well-established" case of pneumonia in the right lung and a lesser case in the left. He estimated that the pneumonia was contracted several days ago.

In September, Mrs. Helen Barrett, a widow with five children, moved into the house with her five children. She failed to notify the municipal Nashville Electric Service of the move.

Officails of the electric service thought the house was vacant. Last Friday, having received no request for service, they turned off the power. The officials said no one had applied for service there since another tenant moved out in June. The company said it was unaware an iron lung was in use at the address.

Berger Hospital Questions and Answers

Q. How much will the proposed levy cost taxpayers?

A. The half-mill levy amounts to 50 cents per $1,000 of tax valuation. Tax valuations in Pickaway County are approximately 40 per cent of market values. A property owner with a valuation of $5,000 would pay $2.50 per year.

Draft Chief Says Men over 26 Have Little To Fear for While

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deputy director of the Selective Service said today that men over 26 have little to fear from the draft at this time — the bumper crop of postwar babies is filling the bill to a great extent.

"Under present circumstances, I don't anticipate that we'll be getting into men over 26," Col. Daniel O. Omer said in an interview. "Right now about 150,000 to 160,000 youths a month are coming into their 19th birthday, and this year about 2 million men will reach the age of 18."

Under present law, youths under 19 cannot be drafted. But Omer estimated that about 30 per cent, or 600,000, of the 2 million 18-year-olds will be eligible for induction next year. About 40 per cent will be excused because of school, he said.

As for the 19-year-olds, Omer said that a large number of them will enlist.

"Always when draft calls are high, enlistments are up," he said. "Right now enlistments are good.

"Last month we had calls for 27,000 men, and 33,000 men enlisted after they were examined and found acceptable."

Because of the great number of volunteers, he said, "we missed our call by a few men — about 500.

"So we sort of feel that we were responsible for getting many men into the service who probably would not have enlisted if they hadn't known the call was large and they were acceptable."

Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr., Marine commandant, said Tuesday that the Marine Corps may be able to eliminate part of its draft calls because of increasing volunteers.

In a talk at Los Angeles, Greene said the corps hopes to increase its manpower by 30,000 men within the next five months.

high Viet Cong casualties to coordination of ground and air fire power.

At Plei Me, airborne American cavalrymen landed and swept south to clear out the last Communist strongpoint threatening the Special Forces camp.

Light mortar and recoilless rifle fire fell during the night near the camp which had been under siege for a week. But the troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division met no resistance as they pushed through the jungle 210 miles northeast of Saigon.

The decision to send out the American troops apparently was made after a South Vietnamese column of infantry and armored vehicles which had relieved the post Monday was hurled back by heavy Communist fire when it began moving south of the camp.

On one ridge the U.S. troops found an abandoned Viet Cong outpost overlooking the camp and the body of one North Vietnamese regular soldier. The area had been heavily bombed by U.S. planes during the siege.

Atop one hill the advancing Americans found one of the Communists' main observation posts. The enemy had pulled out so fast they left behind ammunition, equipment and clothing.

Until Tuesday afternoon the South Vietnamese had turned down offers by U.S. forces to join in the battle. At that point, the government troops were confident that they had chased the Communists away.

The camp was preparing to receive high government officials and accept congratulations for holding out when the Communists opened fire again. Assaults were directed against both the camp and the relief column, and light casualites were inflicted.

There were unconfirmed reports that the equivalent of a full North Vietnamese division was in the area. But U.S. military sources said only one regiment — about 1,200 men — was believed to have engaged the government troops.

The 1st Cavalry moved through the jungle along easy paths. Nearly 600 air strikes had blasted away the undergrowth and stripped trees of branches and leaves.

Move for Mistrial

lenge is exercised, without a given reason, by either attorney after the first 12 jurors are seated.

Most of the morning session today was used in efforts to get a replacement for Mrs. Crist. After excusing four persons, three of them for authentic reasons submitted to the court in writing, and one because of a definite opinion and opposition to capital punishment, a Walnut Twp. farmer took his place on the jury.

Joseph C. Peters, Route 1, Ashville, was seated in place of Mrs. Crist. He at first indicated he had an opinion in the case, but after a lengthy interrogation by Nadlin, he was approved.

Another four persons were in the line of questioning before a replacement was approved for James. Two of the excused jurors indicated they had definite opinions they could not forget in order to act as fair and impartial jurors. The other two were excused for medical reasons.

Leonard Van Buskirk, Route 3, assumed the seat left vacant by the removal of James. Buskirk is a maintenance man at the local Du Pont plant.

* * *

NADLIN, again, showed a little concern that Buskirk may be associated with two other Du Pont employes already seated on the jury. They are Edward E. Eaton and Richard E. Fox.

After the seating of Buskirk, Judge Ammer asked for a second peremptory challenge from Prosecuting Attorney Huffer. He passed the opportunity to remove another juror at this time.

The questioning of more jurors continued with Mrs. Marie W. Davis, Ashville, being called to the witness stand. However, a luncheon recess was called and Mrs. Davis was to take the stand again that afternoon.

Pace of the proceedings has slowed down considerably. After the defense and prosecution exhaust their peremptory challenges, which may go into Friday, alternate jurors must be seated.

There has been no definite number disclosed concerning alternate jurors. But indications are that there may be as many as [illegible]

MRS. DAVIS called at noon today, is already No. 41 on the list of 75 originally called for jury duty. Should the entire venire in the capital offense case be exhausted, the Commission of Jurors will have to draw another list from the ranks of registered Pickaway County voters.

Objections to capital punishment and medical reasons seem to be the biggest factors so far in dismissing those called for jury duty.

Back-To-School Night Scheduled

The fourth annual Back-to-School Night will be held Monday at Circleville High School.

The event, which has proven highly successful in the past, will get underway at 7:30 p. m. in the CHS auditorium. Parents will be given a general instruction at this time.

Following the general assembly parents will go to classrooms for a program based on their respective child's class schedule.

Cong and People's China now are considerably strained. The Viet Cong, in his words, has no definitive claims under which the United States would have to withdraw its units from South Viet Nam before it would be possible to start peace talks. The Viet Cong only insists that the United States must recognize the NFLSV as a partner in the talks."

This seemed to lift the precondition of U.S. advance withdrawal and limit the Viet Cong demands to a seat at a conference table, rather than recognition as South Viet Nam's only legal representative, as Hanoi and Peking have insisted.

But the Viet Cong takes increasingly more punishment all the time, and Communist North Viet Nam obviously is hurting.

Referring to these factors, the Prague broadcast said: "The Vietnamese people (meaning the Viet Cong) would not be able to agree indefinitely with the Chinese attitude that the struggle must be waged till the victorious end, whatever the price." It said this complaint not only was the attitude of the NFLSV man in Moscow, but "has been confirmed straight from the NFLSV center."

Stock Prices Push Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market widened its gains early this afternoon and pushed further into record high ground under the leadership of steels and other heavy industrials.

Trading was very active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up to a substantial gain of 2.4 at 355.0 with industrials up 3.5, rails up 1.0 and utilities up 1.3.

Steels were inspired by U.S. Steel's report of a jump in profits.

News Briefs

CLEVELAND (AP)—A jury convicted William Cartier, 32, of first-degree murder and recommended mercy today.

Judge Francis Talty sentenced Cartier to life imprisonment in Ohio Penitentiary.

It was a year ago today that Cartier, of Cleveland, was arrested in the shooting of grocer Gilbert Rollins at Rollins' store.

The alleged triggerman in the shooting, William Hubbard, 20, was found guilty last summer of first - degree murder and sentenced to die in the electric chair. He was then adjudged insane and sent to Lima State Hospital.

Dr. Muhammed H. Lindsey was charged with performing an abortion on a 19-year-old Akron girl last month. He denied it.

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Progressive prelates appeared today to be mounting a final effort to eliminate from the Vatican Ecumenical Council religious liberty declaration a passage they fear could irritate non-Catholics.

This part includes strong emphasis on Roman Catholic doctrine that Catholicism is Christ's only true church. This section also says all men should embrace Catholicism to the degree they recognize it in seeking truth.

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were 4,027,490 babies born in this country during 1964, the Public Health Service said today in final statistics for that year.

It is generally conceded now that the number of babies born in 1965 will fall below 4 million by a considerable margin, making this the first year since 1953 with less than 4 million live births.

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Everything appeared normal as Samuel Ginger got into his car Tuesday, started it and pressed down on the gas pedal. Then came the crash.

During the night a thief had stolen a front wheel and tire and left the car propped up on a jack.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis Loftin were moving into their new home in West Montgomery when the house was wrecked by an explosion.

The blast Tuesday night was attributed by firemen to an accumulation of gas in the attic. The explosion collapsed ceilings, toppled a part of the house's brick veneer wall, and blew out windows and doors. The Loftins escaped with minor injuries.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—About 200 shouting, rock-throwing Negro and Spanish - American youths rioted near downtown Phoenix late Tuesday night. Police brought it under control two hours later.

A dozen auto windshields and several store windows were smashed. Two persons, including a policeman, were hit by rocks that shattered the windshields of moving cars.

The rock throwing started outside a dance at a Negro neighborhood park southeast of downtown Phoenix. An officer said two Negro youths were fighting when police arrived, then without apparent explanation, others started throwing rocks at passing cars.

Yanks at Plei Me Now Convinced They Dueled Cong's 'First Team'

PLEI ME, South Viet Nam (AP) — After seven days of continuous action, the handful of U.S. Army advisers behind the barbed wire at Plei Me know they have been pitted against the Viet Cong's first team — a regiment from North Viet Nam's 308th Infantry Division. It shows on every haggard, grime-smeared face.

A relief column of more than 1,300 Vietnamese rangers, infantry, tanks and armored personnel carriers reached the besieged Special Forces camp Monday. The Viet Cong caught them in the open, and for more than an hour enemy mortars, heavy machine guns and automatic weapons poured fire into the relief force and into the camp.

Capt. Russell Hunter, the camp's doctor from Abilene, Tex., seemed to be everywhere inside the camp's perimeter as dead and wounded were carried in.

One wounded U.S. adviser was brought to Hunter's underground aid station by other Americans. They carried him through the wire, under sniper fire, when South Vietnamese soldiers balked at bringing him in.

For some of Plei Me's defenders, the assault was too much. A noncom ripped the bandage off one Vietnamese soldier's arm and found no wound. Screaming with rage and grabbing him by the jacket, the noncom hauled the cowering soldier from a trench and kicked him back into the fight.

The camp's defenders retaliated with 50-caliber machine guns, mortars and small arms. U.S. Skyraiders and jet attack bombers pummeled thickets on a gentle rise south of Plei Me where the Viet Cong lay hidden.

Each time there was a lull, shots from concealed Viet Cong snipers sent everyone scurrying for cover.

Bomb fragments and shrapnel splattered the camp as the planes and big guns hit close to the wire. Gunners of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry division fired volley after volley of white phosphorus and high explosives with terrifying accuracy.

The Americans in Plei Me credited the planes with saving the camp. American pilots flew hundreds of sorties by day and night.

After one brief firefight, a Viet Cong prisoner was brought in. He was Cao Xuan Hai, 22, a master sergeant in the 324th Regiment of the North Vietnamese 308th Division.

He smoked a cigarette as he sat on the floor of a hut and answered questions put to him by Brig. Gen. Doan Van Quang, commander of South Viet Nam's Special Forces, who had flown into Plei Me that morning.

Cao said his unit left Phu Tho, in North Viet Nam, in July and reached the area a week ago. He wore dust-stained khaki jungle fatigues. His badly swollen feet bulged out of sandals made from an old automobile tire.

Cao said volunteers to fight in South Viet Nam were easy to obtain because intensive American bombing in the Communist North was reducing already scant food supplies and soldiers could count on getting enough rice.

* * *

IT WAS pointed out that the city and county does have an obligation in helping overcome hospital operating deficits. However, Councilman Barnhill noted that the city does not have funds available or earmarked for assistance. The county apparently is in the same position, although members of the Board of Commissioners were not present to present their views.

Hospital officials and members of the Citizens Committee have formed the conclusion that the proposed half-mill levy appears to be the only alternative to improve Berger's financial outlook. The approximate $70,000 derived annually for a period of five years, they say, undoubtedly would provide a better hospital, including improved services and facilities that are vital in attracting more patients.

Crist said a patient occupancy of 80 to 85 per cent almost certainly would put the hospital on a self-sustaining financial basis.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stevens, 106 Northridge Road, was treated in the emergency room at Berger Hospital and released.

Other persons treated by the emergency staff were:

Selective Service officials revealed Tuesday that the ban against drafting childless men who were married before midnight Aug. 26 had been lifted, enabling local draft boards to meet the recently increased manpower quotas.

President Johnson's announcement of the Aug. 26 cutoff date, made that afternoon, precipitated a rush to the altar by many young couples hoping to beat the draft.

Two weeks ago the Defense Department requested a draft quota of 45,224 men for December, the largest quota since the Korean war.

By early next year, Omer predicted, nearly all states will be drafting married men under 26 in order to fill their quotas. An Associated Press survey indicated Tuesday that at least 12 states plan to start drafting married men without children in December. The states are New Mexico, Alabama, Washington, Illinois, New Hampshire, Montana, Minnesota, Maryland, Idaho, Connecticut, New Jersey and Wisconsin.

Nine other states — California, Nevada, Oklahoma, Maine, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas, Nebraska and Massachusetts — indicated that by January they may begin taking such men.

Omer said he considered the decision to draft those married men a further assurance that men over 26 are not immediately in line for the draft.

The colonel, who is also general counsel of Selective Service, explained that there is a manpower pool of 500,000 men who were married on or before Aug. 26 and who must be inducted before men over 26.

The order of selection for induction now is:

1. Registrants who have disregarded their draft notices or draft regulations.
2. Volunteers.
3. 1A single men and men married since Aug. 26 who are between 19 and 26.
4. Men who married before Aug. 26 and who maintain a bona fide family relationship in their homes.
5. Men over 26.
6. Men between 18½ and 19.

Viet Rangers

high Viet Cong casualties to coordination of ground and air fire power.

At Plei Me, airborne American cavalrymen landed and swept south to clear out the last Communist strongpoint threatening the Special Forces camp.

Light mortar and recoilless rifle fire fell during the night near the camp which had been under siege for a week. But the troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division met no resistance as they pushed through the jungle 210 miles northeast of Saigon.

The decision to send out the American troops apparently was made after a South Vietnamese column of infantry and armored vehicles which had relieved the post Monday was hurled back by heavy Communist fire when it began moving south of the camp.

On one ridge the U.S. troops found an abandoned Viet Cong outpost overlooking the camp and the body of one North Vietnamese regular soldier. The area had been heavily bombed by U.S. planes during the siege.

Atop one hill the advancing Americans found one of the Communists' main observation posts. The enemy had pulled out so fast they left behind ammunition, equipment and clothing.

Until Tuesday afternoon the South Vietnamese had turned down offers by U.S. forces to join in the battle. At that point, the government troops were confident that they had chased the Communists away.

The camp was preparing to receive high government officials and accept congratulations for holding out when the Communists opened fire again. Assaults were directed against both the camp and the relief column, and light casualites were inflicted.

There were unconfirmed reports that the equivalent of a full North Vietnamese division was in the area. But U.S. military sources said only one regiment — about 1,200 men — was believed to have engaged the government troops.

The 1st Cavalry moved through the jungle along easy paths. Nearly 600 air strikes had blasted away the undergrowth and stripped trees of branches and leaves.

Move for Mistrial

lenge is exercised, without a given reason, by either attorney after the first 12 jurors are seated.

Most of the morning session today was used in efforts to get a replacement for Mrs. Crist. After excusing four persons, three of them for authentic reasons submitted to the court in writing, and one because of a definite opinion and opposition to capital punishment, a Walnut Twp. farmer took his place on the jury.

Joseph C. Peters, Route 1, Ashville, was seated in place of Mrs. Crist. He at first indicated he had an opinion in the case, but after a lengthy interrogation by Nadlin, he was approved.

Another four persons were in the line of questioning before a replacement was approved for James. Two of the excused jurors indicated they had definite opinions they could not forget in order to act as fair and impartial jurors. The other two were excused for medical reasons.

Leonard Van Buskirk, Route 3, assumed the seat left vacant by the removal of James. Buskirk is a maintenance man at the local Du Pont plant.

* * *

NADLIN, again, showed a little concern that Buskirk may be associated with two other Du Pont employes already seated on the jury. They are Edward E. Eaton and Richard E. Fox.

After the seating of Buskirk, Judge Ammer asked for a second peremptory challenge from Prosecuting Attorney Huffer. He passed the opportunity to remove another juror at this time.

The questioning of more jurors continued with Mrs. Marie W. Davis, Ashville, being called to the witness stand. However, a luncheon recess was called and Mrs. Davis was to take the stand again that afternoon.

Pace of the proceedings has slowed down considerably. After the defense and prosecution exhaust their peremptory challenges, which may go into Friday, alternate jurors must be seated.

There has been no definite number disclosed concerning alternate jurors. But indications are that there may be as many as [illegible]

* * *

MRS. DAVIS called at noon today, is already No. 41 on the list of 75 originally called for jury duty. Should the entire venire in the capital offense case be exhausted, the Commission of Jurors will have to draw another list from the ranks of registered Pickaway County voters.

Objections to capital punishment and medical reasons seem to be the biggest factors so far in dismissing those called for jury duty.

Moscow Seen

Cong and People's China now are considerably strained. The Viet Cong, in his words, has no definitive claims under which the United States would have to withdraw its units from South Viet Nam before it would be possible to start peace talks. The Viet Cong only insists that the United States must recognize the NFLSV as a partner in the talks."

This seemed to lift the precondition of U.S. advance withdrawal and limit the Viet Cong demands to a seat at a conference table, rather than recognition as South Viet Nam's only legal representative, as Hanoi and Peking have insisted.

But the Viet Cong takes increasingly more punishment all the time, and Communist North Viet Nam obviously is hurting.

Referring to these factors, the Prague broadcast said: "The Vietnamese people (meaning the Viet Cong) would not be able to agree indefinitely with the Chinese attitude that the struggle must be waged till the victorious end, whatever the price." It said this complaint not only was the attitude of the NFLSV man in Moscow, but "has been confirmed straight from the NFLSV center."

Stock Prices Push Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market widened its gains early this afternoon and pushed further into record high ground under the leadership of steels and other heavy industrials.

Trading was very active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up to a substantial gain of 2.4 at 355.0 with industrials up 3.5, rails up 1.0 and utilities up 1.3.

Steels were inspired by U.S. Steel's report of a jump in profits.

News Briefs

CLEVELAND (AP)—A jury convicted William Cartier, 32, of first-degree murder and recommended mercy today.

Judge Francis Talty sentenced Cartier to life imprisonment in Ohio Penitentiary.

It was a year ago today that Cartier, of Cleveland, was arrested in the shooting of grocer Gilbert Rollins at Rollins' store.

The alleged triggerman in the shooting, William Hubbard, 20, was found guilty last summer of first - degree murder and sentenced to die in the electric chair. He was then adjudged insane and sent to Lima State Hospital.

Dr. Muhammed H. Lindsey was charged with performing an abortion on a 19-year-old Akron girl last month. He denied it.

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Progressive prelates appeared today to be mounting a final effort to eliminate from the Vatican Ecumenical Council religious liberty declaration a passage they fear could irritate non-Catholics.

This part includes strong emphasis on Roman Catholic doctrine that Catholicism is Christ's only true church. This section also says all men should embrace Catholicism to the degree they recognize it in seeking truth.

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were 4,027,490 babies born in this country during 1964, the Public Health Service said today in final statistics for that year.

It is generally conceded now that the number of babies born in 1965 will fall below 4 million by a considerable margin, making this the first year since 1953 with less than 4 million live births.

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Everything appeared normal as Samuel Ginger got into his car Tuesday, started it and pressed down on the gas pedal. Then came the crash.

During the night a thief had stolen a front wheel and tire and left the car propped up on a jack.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis Loftin were moving into their new home in West Montgomery when the house was wrecked by an explosion.

The blast Tuesday night was attributed by firemen to an accumulation of gas in the attic. The explosion collapsed ceilings, toppled a part of the house's brick veneer wall, and blew out windows and doors. The Loftins escaped with minor injuries.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—About 200 shouting, rock-throwing Negro and Spanish - American youths rioted near downtown Phoenix late Tuesday night. Police brought it under control two hours later.

A dozen auto windshields and several store windows were smashed. Two persons, including a policeman, were hit by rocks that shattered the windshields of moving cars.

The rock throwing started outside a dance at a Negro neighborhood park southeast of downtown Phoenix. An officer said two Negro youths were fighting when police arrived, then without apparent explanation, others started throwing rocks at passing cars.

PLEI ME, South Viet Nam (AP) — After seven days of continuous action, the handful of U.S. Army advisers behind the barbed wire at Plei Me know they have been pitted against the Viet Cong's first team — a regiment from North Viet Nam's 308th Infantry Division. It shows on every haggard, grime-smeared face.

A relief column of more than 1,300 Vietnamese rangers, infantry, tanks and armored personnel carriers reached the besieged Special Forces camp Monday. The Viet Cong caught them in the open, and for more than an hour enemy mortars, heavy machine guns and automatic weapons poured fire into the relief force and into the camp.

Capt. Russell Hunter, the camp's doctor from Abilene, Tex., seemed to be everywhere inside the camp's perimeter as dead and wounded were carried in.

His week-old growth of beard was caked with brick-red dust and his eyes stared with fatigue.

One wounded U.S. adviser was brought to Hunter's underground aid station by other Americans. They carried him through the wire, under sniper fire, when South Vietnamese soldiers balked at bringing him in.

For some of Plei Me's defenders, the assault was too much. A noncom ripped the bandage off one Vietnamese soldier's arm and found no wound. Screaming with rage and grabbing him by the jacket, the noncom hauled the cowering soldier from a trench and kicked him back into the fight.

The camp's defenders retaliated with 50-caliber machine guns, mortars and small arms. U.S. Skyraiders and jet attack bombers pummeled thickets on a gentle rise south of Plei Me where the Viet Cong lay hidden.

Each time there was a lull, shots from concealed Viet Cong snipers sent everyone scurrying for cover.

Bomb fragments and shrapnel splattered the camp as the planes and big guns hit close to the wire. Gunners of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry division fired volley after volley of white phosphorus and high explosives with terrifying accuracy.

The Americans in Plei Me credited the planes with saving the camp. American pilots flew hundreds of sorties by day and night.

After one brief firefight, a Viet Cong prisoner was brought in. He was Cao Xuan Hai, 22, a master sergeant in the 324th Regiment of the North Vietnamese 308th Division.

He smoked a cigarette as he sat on the floor of a hut and answered questions put to him by Brig. Gen. Doan Van Quang, commander of South Viet Nam's Special Forces, who had flown into Plei Me that morning.

Cao said his unit left Phu Tho, in North Viet Nam, in July and reached the area a week ago. He wore dust-stained khaki jungle fatigues. His badly swollen feet bulged out of sandals made from an old automobile tire.

Cao said volunteers to fight in South Viet Nam were easy to obtain because intensive American bombing in the Communist North was reducing already scant food supplies and soldiers could count on getting enough rice.

ident physician as a means of improving service; the financial impact created by Berger's new Maternity Wing whose construction was required by the state; the lack of physicians to adequately staff the hospital; projected plans to improve administration and efficiency; and what can be done between now and the Nov. 2 election to help pass the levy.

IT WAS pointed out that the city and county does have an obligation in helping overcome hospital operating deficits. However, Councilman Barnhill noted that the city does not have funds available or earmarked for assistance. The county apparently is in the same position, although members of the Board of Commissioners were not present to present their views.

Hospital officials and members of the Citizens Committee have formed the conclusion that the proposed half-mill levy appears to be the only alternative to improve Berger's financial outlook. The approximate $70,000 derived annually for a period of five years, they say, undoubtedly would provide a better hospital, including improved services and facilities that are vital in attracting more patients.

Crist said a patient occupancy of 80 to 85 per cent almost certainly would put the hospital on a self-sustaining financial basis.

Other survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Betty Jean Gagliardo of Columbus, Mrs. Georgia Johnson of Route 1, Galena, Mrs. Helen Kraus of Chicago; six grandchildren; two brothers, Charles of Sabina and Noah of Lancaster; four sisters, Mrs. Goldie Speakman of Atlanta, Mrs. Florence Sringer and Mrs. Elva Butts of Lancaster and Mrs. Fannie McAfee of Wellston.

Services will be 1 p. m. Saturday at the Defenbaugh Funeral Home, with the Rev. Foster Jenne officiating. Burial will be in Tarlton Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p. m. Thursday.

MRS. ROYAL V. HAMMAN

Mrs. Doris Hamman, 68, Route 2, Williamsport, died 1 a. m. today in Mt. Carmel Hsopital, Columbus, following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Hamman was born May 29, 1897, near Whisler, the daughter of Martin and Minnie Raymond Frederick. She lived most of her life in the Williamsport community and was active in functions of the Methodist Church there when her health permitted.

She is survived by her husband, Royal V. Hamman; two daughters, Mrs. Roger May, Route 1, Circleville, and Mrs. Timothy Moore, Columbus; two sons, James Williamsport, and John Cambridge; 15 grandchildren; and one brother, Phillip, Columbus.

Services will be 1:30 p. m. Friday at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in New Holland, with the Rev. Norman Williams officiating. Burial will be in Browns Chapel.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 2 p. m. Thursday.

Tiger Gridder Treated for Cut

Charles Stevens, 15, a Circleville High School football player, sustained a laceration on his chin during practice yesterday.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stevens, 106 Northridge Road, was treated in the emergency room at Berger Hospital and released.

Other persons treated by the emergency staff were:

Draft . . .

Selective Service officials revealed Tuesday that the ban against drafting childless men who were married before midnight Aug. 26 had been lifted, enabling local draft boards to meet the recently increased manpower quotas.

President Johnson's announcement of the Aug. 26 cutoff date, made that afternoon, precipitated a rush to the altar by many young couples hoping to beat the draft.

Two weeks ago the Defense Department requested a draft quota of 45,224 men for December, the largest quota since the Korean war.

By early next year, Omer predicted, nearly all states will be drafting married men under 26 in order to fill their quotas. An Associated Press survey indicated Tuesday that at least 12 states plan to start drafting married men without children in December. The states are New Mexico, Alabama, Washington, Illinois, New Hampshire, Montana, Minnesota, Maryland, Idaho, Connecticut, New Jersey and Wisconsin.

Nine other states — California, Nevada, Oklahoma, Maine, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas, Nebraska and Massachusetts — indicated that by January they may begin taking such men.

Omer said he considered the decision to draft those married men a further assurance that men over 26 are not immediately in line for the draft.

The colonel, who is also general counsel of Selective Service, explained that there is a manpower pool of 500,000 men who were married on or before Aug. 26 and who must be inducted before men over 26.

The order of selection for induction now is:

1. Registrants who have disregarded their draft notices or draft regulations.
2. Volunteers.
3. 1A single men and men married since Aug. 26 who are between 19 and 26.
4. Men who married before Aug. 26 and who maintain a bona fide family relationship in their homes.
5. Men over 26.
6. Men between 18½ and 19.

That Questionnaire

More schools are receiving copies of the controversial "opportunity" questionnaire designed to be answered by U. S. school children.

No wonder it is controversial. The 214 questions contain such loaded ones as these: "Who acts as your father?" "Think now who you would like most to have as your classmates. How many would be white?" "Where does most of the money come from that pays for your food, clothes and housing?"

The schools, which are designed to educate children, have no business invading the homes of children to ask such personal, prying questions. Some school superintendents have refused to allow the questionnaire to be circulated through their schools.

This is a sensible pattern.

Strange Stories about Mao

By John Chamberlain

The strangest stories are being spread about Red China's aging dictator, Mao Tse-tung. One of them is that he is afflicted with Parkinson's Disease. Another is that he has, like the Hitler of 1944, become the victim of delusions.

Certainly there is some objective evidence that Mao and his mates have lost touch with the world outside China. How else can one explain the crazy course they have taken in regard to the continent of Africa? The latest blooper the Red Chinese have pulled is to issue, through a Maoist "People's Front of East Africa," a bloodthirsty document calling upon "the broad masses of the Kenya people" to expose the "African socialism" of President Kenyatta's government as a new front for "imperialist colonialist capitalism." The document, sent to Kenya cabinet minister and members of parliament from Dar es Salaam in Tanzania, is lavish with praise for Oginga Odinga, who has expressed his sympathy in the past for the Chinese revolution. This had led to no end of embarrassment for Odinga, who, after all, is Vice President in the Kenya government. He has had to denouce the nice words the Maoists have said about him as something "intended to sow the seeds of discord."

What is insane about the Maoist demand for a "revolution" in Kenya is that it is directed at people who consider they have already had their revolution. If the Maoists had set out to discredit themselves throughout Africa, they could have done nothing more effective than to attack the Kenyatta governmen for being "fascist" and "counter-revolutionary." It is as if a group of Americans had called in 1792 upon the "broad masses" to get rid of George Washington on the ground that he was a stooge of King George III.

The remoteness from reality that has led to Red Chinese mistakes in Africa is even more glaring when one looks at recent events in Asia. Instead of humbling the Indians by threatening them while they were embroiled with Pakistan, they have put new stiffness into the Shastri government. Moreover, the delusion that all the Red Chinese had to do in Indonesia was to set their local Communists in motion has been exposed by the quick thinking of Indonesian army officers, who, whatever license they may be willing to permit Sukarno, just aren't willing to turn over their country to the domination of a foreign Communist power.

The madness of Mao has infected the student fringe in the United States. For, right in the midst of the worst reverses the Reds have met in years, young people who take their politics from such organizations as the Progressive Labor Party and the Students for a Democratic Society, parade and demonstrate under the assumption that they can change the thinking of eighty per cent of the American people by making public nuisances of themselves. The great "Red Week-End" of October 15-16 happened to coincide with the collapse of the Communist putsch in Indonesia, the failure of Ho Chi Minh's "monsoon campaign" in South Vietnam, the admission by Castro that he can't feed his own people, the end of the Red Chinese threat to India, and the growing evidence that Soviet Russia doesn't really want to get embroiled in a major war in Southeast Asia. The U. S. Air Force has apparently learned how to evade the Russian-built surface-to-air missiles in North Vietnam and still press home its bombing attacks.

Amid all the recent anti-Communist successes the one sobering thing is that Mao Tse-tung and Ho Chi Minh may mistake the "peace" marches in America for the voice of the people. Mao is so far removed from reality that, like the Hitler who counted on the V2 rockets and the attack at the Battle of the Bulge to win magically for him at the last minute, he is capable of one final thunderous mistake.

By encouraging Mao in his delusions, the American "peace movement" is risking the very escalation that it professes to fear. Do the "peaceniks" want to have this on their consciences?

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — New car sales are setting a record this month, and by doing so are helping to offset the plunge of steel production to the lowest level in nearly two years.

These crosscurrents in the economy are important not only for what they reveal of the present state of industry and trade but perhaps more for what they might do to consumer and business psychology.

Steel long has had the reputation of being a basic industry. When mill production booms, the public feels about the well with the rest of the economy.

Auto sales long have been regarded as the chief clue to how the public feels about the present state of affairs and about future prospects. New car sales are a test both of how much money the public has to spend and of its willingness to spend it.

So now steel production is falling and auto sales are rising. Economists are quick to come up with explanations of both factors and of their apparent contradiction.

That cars are selling faster this October than last may not be as glamorous as it seems at first glanec. That steel production is falling and new orders coming in slower than expected may not be as calamitous as it sounds.

In the first 20 days of October 547,000 American made cars were sold, compared with 374,000 in the like period of 1964. The industry counts on selling enough more to push October's total above 800,000. At midmonth, the dealers were selling 64 per cent more a day than a year earlier.

But comparisons can be tricky. This year the new models were displayed later. October is seeing the first chance the buyer had to get a 1966 model; a year ago the 1965 models had been around for some time. Also, last year General Motors was struck and many dealers were short of GM cars.

In the case of steel, the drop in production for eight straight weeks, with signs that the decline is continuing, also must be put into perspective. The mills now are producing at less than two-thirds of capacity, at the lowest lovel since December 1963.

But most of this drop had been expected. It resulted from the big buildup in stocks by consumers who feared a steel strike. This was averted by a new labor contract settlement early in September. Consumers have lots of steel on hand and aren't pressing the mills for shipments.

But what is worrying the mills is that the drop in new orders, although that too was expected, is more severe than first thought likely and is lasting longer than the mill had hoped.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Circleville Jaycees announced plans for their annual Halloween Parade.

The Circleville Cotillion, sponsored by the Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs, was to be held this fall at Memorial Hall.

TEN YEARS AGO

Dr. J. M. Hedges, Circleville, was elected new district chairman of the Boy Scouts for Pickaway County.

Members of the Hi-Y and Jr. SOS clubs of Circleville High School were sponsoring a paper drive.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Dr. and Mrs. Abbott Hedges of Richmond, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Powell, Cleveland, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Abbott and family and Charles Abbott, Amanda.

The first basketball game of the year was to be a ghost game played at Commercial Point High School between Purina Chows of Circleville and the Cooper Oils.

The Circleville Athletic Club decided to sponsor an independent basketball team to participate against outstanding teams in the central states.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Are the "growing pains" of the adolescent an illness, or just part of the pattern of growing up?

"Growing pains" is a vague term which has persisted for generations and which has no specific meaning.

Sometimes the pains of the teenager are casually dismissed as just another by-product of the age of growing-up.

Persistent pains must not be too readily considered merely "psychosomatic attention - getters" of adolescence. Sometimes these vague aches and pains indicate an illness that should be diagnosed and treated.

If your child complains of aches in the muscles and joints, coupled with fatigue and lack of concentration, his condition deserves consultation with the physician.

Only after all physical illnesses are ruled out can symptoms of "growing pains" be attributed to the emotional instability of the difficult age of adolescence.

Is there any danger in using pastes bought "over - the-counter" to re-line artificial dentures, bridges and plates?

The American Dental Association states, "It is as senseless for the layman to attempt to re-line his dentures as it would be for him to make an artificial limb.

"Because the tissues of the mouth are continually changing, dentures may become ill-fitting. The precise adjustments necessary to correct the condition and to prevent further harm require professional judgment."

The A.D.A. further states that kits sold for re-lining dentures are a menace to dental and general body health.

The hazards are great, especially when the elderly are allergic or particularly sensitive to the chemical ingredients in the re-liner.

Cases have been reported revealing severe injury to the mouth and gums in those who have unwisely attempted this self-dentistry.

There is no substitute for good dental diagnosis and treatment.

Doctors everywhere are giving more and more recognition to the emotional needs of the patient in relation to his illness. This body-mind unity is the basis of psychosomatic medicine.

This had led to no end of embarrassment for Odinga, who, after all, is Vice President in the Kenya government. He has had to denouce the nice words the Maoists have said about him as something "intended to sow the seeds of discord."

What is insane about the Maoist demand for a "revolution" in Kenya is that it is directed at people who consider they have already had their revolution. If the Maoists had set out to discredit themselves throughout Africa, they could have done nothing more effective than to attack the Kenyatta governmen for being "fascist" and "counter-revolutionary." It is as if a group of Americans had called in 1792 upon the "broad masses" to get rid of George Washington on the ground that he was a stooge of King George III.

The remoteness from reality that has led to Red Chinese mistakes in Africa is even more glaring when one looks at recent events in Asia. Instead of humbling the Indians by threatening them while they were embroiled with Pakistan, they have put new stiffness into the Shastri government. Moreover, the delusion that all the Red Chinese had to do in Indonesia was to set their local Communists in motion has been exposed by the quick thinking of Indonesian army officers, who, whatever license they may be willing to permit Sukarno, just aren't willing to turn over their country to the domination of a foreign Communist power.

The madness of Mao has infected the student fringe in the United States. For, right in the midst of the worst reverses the Reds have met in years, young people who take their politics from such organizations as the Progressive Labor Party and the Students for a Democratic Society, parade and demonstrate under the assumption that they can change the thinking of eighty per cent of the American people by making public nuisances of themselves. The great "Red Week-End" of October 15-16 happened to coincide with the collapse of the Communist putsch in Indonesia, the failure of Ho Chi Minh's "monsoon campaign" in South Vietnam, the admission by Castro that he can't feed his own people, the end of the Red Chinese threat to India, and the growing evidence that Soviet Russia doesn't really want to get embroiled in a major war in Southeast Asia. The U. S. Air Force has apparently learned how to evade the Russian-built surface-to-air missiles in North Vietnam and still press home its bombing attacks.

Amid all the recent anti-Communist successes the one sobering thing is that Mao Tse-tung and Ho Chi Minh may mistake the "peace" marches in America for the voice of the people. Mao is so far removed from reality that, like the Hitler who counted on the V2 rockets and the attack at the Battle of the Bulge to win magically for him at the last minute, he is capable of one final thunderous mistake.

By encouraging Mao in his delusions, the American "peace movement" is risking the very escalation that it professes to fear. Do the "peaceniks" want to have this on their consciences?

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — New car sales are setting a record this month, and by doing so are helping to offset the plunge of steel production to the lowest level in nearly two years.

These crosscurrents in the economy are important not only for what they reveal of the present state of industry and trade but perhaps more for what they might do to consumer and business psychology.

Steel long has had the reputation of being a basic industry. When mill production booms, the public feels about the well with the rest of the economy.

Auto sales long have been regarded as the chief clue to how the public feels about the present state of affairs and about future prospects. New car sales are a test both of how much money the public has to spend and of its willingness to spend it.

So now steel production is falling and auto sales are rising. Economists are quick to come up with explanations of both factors and of their apparent contradiction.

That cars are selling faster this October than last may not be as glamorous as it seems at first glanec. That steel production is falling and new orders coming in slower than expected may not be as calamitous as it sounds.

In the first 20 days of October 547,000 American made cars were sold, compared with 374,000 in the like period of 1964. The industry counts on selling enough more to push October's total above 800,000. At mid-month, the dealers were selling 64 per cent more a day than a year earlier.

But comparisons can be tricky. This year the new models were displayed later. October is seeing the first chance the buyer had to get a 1966 model; a year ago the 1965 models had been around for some time. Also, last year General Motors was struck and many dealers were short of GM cars.

In the case of steel, the drop in production for eight straight weeks, with signs that the decline is continuing, also must be put into perspective. The mills now are producing at less than two-thirds of capacity, at the lowest lovel since December 1963.

But most of this drop had been expected. It resulted from the big buildup in stocks by consumers who feared a steel strike. This was averted by a new labor contract settlement early in September. Consumers have lots of steel on hand and aren't pressing the mills for shipments.

But what is worrying the mills is that the drop in new orders, although that too was expected, is more severe than first thought likely and is lasting longer than the mill had hoped.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Are the "growing pains" of the adolescent an illness, or just part of the pattern of growing up?

"Growing pains" is a vague term which has persisted for generations and which has no specific meaning.

Sometimes the pains of the teenager are casually dismissed as just another by-product of the age of growing-up.

Persistent pains must not be too readily considered merely "psychosomatic attention - getters" of adolescence. Sometimes these vague aches and pains indicate an illness that should be diagnosed and treated.

If your child complains of aches in the muscles and joints, coupled with fatigue and lack of concentration, his condition deserves consultation with the physician.

Only after all physical illnesses are ruled out can symptoms of "growing pains" be attributed to the emotional instability of the difficult age of adolescence.

Is there any danger in using pastes bought "over - the-counter" to re-line artificial dentures, bridges and plates?

The American Dental Association states, "It is as senseless for the layman to attempt to re-line his dentures as it would be for him to make an artificial limb.

"Because the tissues of the mouth are continually changing, dentures may become ill-fitting. The precise adjustments necessary to correct the condition and to prevent further harm require professional judgment."

The A.D.A. further states that kits sold for re-lining dentures are a menace to dental and general body health.

The hazards are great, especially when the elderly are allergic or particularly sensitive to the chemical ingredients in the re-liner.

Cases have been reported revealing severe injury to the mouth and gums in those who have unwisely attempted this self-dentistry.

There is no substitute for good dental diagnosis and treatment.

Doctors everywhere are giving more and more recognition to the emotional needs of the patient in relation to his illness. This body-mind unity is the basis of psychosomatic medicine.

NEW YORK (AP) — At the end of Tuesday night's "Town Meeting of the World" on CBS, Charles Collingwood, conductor of the turbulent session, wondered how well university students of London, Paris, Belgrade and Mexico City had communicated with the distinguished panel in the United States — and how well the panel had communicated with them.

It was an apt summary of the hour of "global dialogue" really global wrangling — for the students did communicate to the American television audience their intense disapproval and suspicion of the United States position in both Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic without once voicing disapproval or criticism of Communist aims and activities.

Representing the United States were former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, ambassador to the United Nations Arthur J. Goldberg and Solicitor General Rhurgood Marshall, none of them resorting to rough and tough argument but all trying to defend the government's positions and aims.

But, judging from rude snickers by London students, bursts of applause in Mexico City on questions of intervention in the Dominican Republic, and the stony reception elsewhere to explanations of policy, it all fell on deaf, disbelieving ears.

The idea of bringing together via satellite all these people sounds better than it works out. The srongly accenetd English of some of the questioners was difficult to understand. Most of the students seemed far more eager to pick a fight or make a speech than ask questions.

Our defenders generally stuck to genral answers that often were so broad that they were hardly satisfying even to the American television audience.

The program must have been an eyeopener to viewers who believed that we have some friends among young intellectuals abroad.

'Him' Sires 6 Pups; None To Be Sold

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and his family are going to keep at least one of the litter of puppies born to Brigette, the mate of their beagle, Him.

The rest of the litter of six will go to close friends of the Johnsons or to staff members, said Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's press secretary.

When the Johnsons first came to the White House, they had two beagles, Him and Her. Her died last November after swallowing a rock on the White House grounds.

Brigette, owned by an Austin, Tex., veterinarian, Dr. R. Benton Smith, gave birth Oct. 21 to a litter of six puppies sired by Him. Dr. Smith will keep one of the pups and five will go to the President. None of the pups will go on sale. And, all will stay with their mother for about six weeks, Mrs. Carpenter said today.

Auction Scheduled

Clearcreek Twp. Firemen will sponsor a public auction beginning 10:30 a. m. Saturday at the Stoutsville Fire Department.

Items to be offered for sale will include farm equipment, household goods, shop and garden tools, antiques, automobiles and miscellaneous items.

Brownies Hold Investiture

The program opened with a flag ceremony. The second-year Brownies formed a Brownie ring with the new girls standing outside. Each new girl knocked on a "make believe" door and stated her name and reason for wanting to enter into the troop.

The new girls were then taken inside the circle and asked to recite the Brownie Pledge. They were presented with an official Brownie pin and welcomed to the troop by Mrs. Gerald Smith, leader, and Mrs. Jerry Cassill, assistant.

The following girls were invested: Jill Blue, Vicki Brown, Beth Clifton, Kelly Jones, Karen Kinsey, Carla Rhil, Kim Smith, Donnal Wickline, and Debbie Woodward.

Second-year Brownies attending included Jenny Butz, Christy Cassill, Cheree George, Leigh Ann Hritz, Kathleen Johnson, Debbie Kinsey, Kim McGuire, Diedre Poling, Debbie Ann Smith, Debbie Lynn Smith and Nancy Spring.

Godfrey Is Cool on Idea Of Playing Doris Day's Dad

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — Arthur Godfrey is making his movie debut under great difficulty. He is required to portray the father of Doris Day and he doesn't feel at all like the father of Doris Day.

Godfrey ruminated over his problem when he reported for lunch after a rough morning on the set of "Glass Bottom Boat." It is a dilemma that might give pause to the most methodical of method actors.

"Oh Boy," he sighed. "I did the scene six times this morning, and I still don't think I got it right."

Although Godfrey may not look as though he could have fathered Doris — nary a gray hair has invaded his rusty hatch — it is numerically possible. He admits to being 62, which makes him 20 years older than Doris.

Aside from the difficulty of the father - daughter relationship, Godfrey is enjoying his first fling at film acting.

"I've had offers before," he said, "but I never was available to take them. Except once. Fox offered me the father's role in 'State Fair,' and I said I'd do it.

"I never heard back from them. I must say after seeing the picture, I was just as happy about that."

Even at 62, Godfrey has no notion of slowing down his pace as an entertainer. "Shucks, that's what keeps me young," he said. "There's nothing a life I like better than doing a show."

More movies? He'd be delighted. Television? He's doing four specials this season, including the Macy's Parade at Thanksgiving and Pasadena's Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day. Everett Freeman, coproducer of "Glass Bottom Boat," is talking to him about a series.

Accused Slayer Screams at Witness

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The opening of a first-degree murder trial has been punctuated by a dramatic courtroom outburst by the defendant and a defense motion to impeach the state's leading witness.

"I don't want to go to the chair, please tell the truth," screamed Charles Jennings Jr. of Akron after his alleged accomplice in the shooting of three Akron policemen told the court details of the shooting.

Patrolman Eugene Hooper, 41, was killed in the shooting and patrolmen Frank Mancini, 25, and Harold Winthrow, 35, were wounded and remain partially paralyzed.

Terrance Landry, 26, of Akron testified Tuesday that Jennings told him after the shooting, "I've just killed three policemen."

"What are you trying to do to me, Terry?" the 26-year-old Jennings screamed. He had to be restrained by three Summit County sheriff's deputies while Landry finished his testimony.

During Landry's testimony, Jennings' lawyers said they wanted a copy of Landry's confession. They said testimony conflicted with statements about his confession and said they wanted the information "for purposes of impeachment."

The judge said if the confession was referred to in court the lawyers would have a copy of it.

"Oh Boy," he sighed. "I did the scene six times this morning, and I still don't think I got it right."

Although Godfrey may not look as though he could have fathered Doris — nary a gray hair has invaded his rusty hatch — it is numerically possible. He admits to being 62, which makes him 20 years older than Doris.

Aside from the difficulty of the father - daughter relationship, Godfrey is enjoying his first fling at film acting.

"I've had offers before," he said, "but I never was available to take them. Except once. Fox offered me the father's role in 'State Fair,' and I said I'd do it.

"I never heard back from them. I must say after seeing the picture, I was just as happy about that."

Even at 62, Godfrey has no notion of slowing down his pace as an entertainer. "Shucks, that's what keeps me young," he said. "There's nothing a life I like better than doing a show."

More movies? He'd be delighted. Television? He's doing four specials this season, including the Macy's Parade at Thanksgiving and Pasadena's Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day. Everett Freeman, coproducer of "Glass Bottom Boat," is talking to him about a series.

Accused Slayer Screams at Witness

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The opening of a first-degree murder trial has been punctuated by a dramatic courtroom outburst by the defendant and a defense motion to impeach the state's leading witness.

"I don't want to go to the chair, please tell the truth," screamed Charles Jennings Jr. of Akron after his alleged accomplice in the shooting of three Akron policemen told the court details of the shooting.

Patrolman Eugene Hooper, 41, was killed in the shooting and patrolmen Frank Mancini, 25, and Harold Winthrow, 35, were wounded and remain partially paralyzed.

Terrance Landry, 26, of Akron testified Tuesday that Jennings told him after the shooting, "I've just killed three policemen."

"What are you trying to do to me, Terry?" the 26-year-old Jennings screamed. He had to be restrained by three Summit County sheriff's deputies while Landry finished his testimony.

During Landry's testimony, Jennings' lawyers said they wanted a copy of Landry's confession. They said testimony conflicted with statements about his confession and said they wanted the information "for purposes of impeachment."

The judge said if the confession was referred to in court the lawyers would have a copy of it.

Give Teens Incentive To Organize

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

"How can a girl as pretty as you live in a room as messy as this one?"

More than one mother, surveying the clutter of her daughter's closet, the chaos that fills her bureau drawers and the general confusion of a room scattered with discarded clothing, has posed this question.

It doesn't make sense! How can a girl who is fastidious about her personal appearance be Sloppy with a capital S about her room?

It's easy. Miss Teenage has too many other exciting and interesting things to occupy her time. When she has a free minute she spends it at the mirror, fussing with makeup or working on a fabulous new coiffure. This is fun! Being tidy is strictly from Dullsville.

Stock up on some of the fragrant accessories available for closets and bureau drawers and — want to bet? — we're willing to wager she'll keep them neat just so she can show off the scented novelties.

Made of polyethylene that's lined with cotton and sweetened with a light and lasting fragrance, it lends a lovely scent to everything stored in a drawer.

It should inspire Miss Teen to fold lingerie, sweaters and such neatly before she stashes them away.

More inSCENTive needed? Add a few sachets. There are darling ones available.

Scented sailor dolls, for example, are sure to appeal to teenage girls — they all love dolls and stuffed animals. Flower - decked pillow sachets are most unusual and very attractive.

When it comes to closets, some ruffled shelf - edging paper adds a pretty touch. For color, cover the walls with wallpaper or use a roll of the plastic, available in solid colors and lovely designs, that adheres on contact.

On the closet door, put up a hook. Hang a frilly laundry bag for soiled clothing on it.

It's not just a matter of organizing the room for your disorganized daugher. It's a matter of organizing it so appealingly that she'll be inspired to keep up the good work you've begun.

Frilly, feminine and fragrant accessories will help you win your case for they'll encourage her to change her sloppy ways.

NEAT ACCESSORIES — Frilly, feminine and fragrant accessories will inspire a teen-ager to keep her room organized. New fragrant accessories are available for closets and bureau drawers. Shown here is an accessory for the closet. It can be looped over a hanger to keep clothes scented.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

He's Not for Her!

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and recently met a fine young man of 28. We hit if off perfectly. I've never known a young man who had so many of the qualities I admire. He told me he "loved" me, and I told him I loved him, too. Then he said he didn't think we should get "too serious" as he couldn't propose marriage. The reason: His parents are very much prejudiced against people of my religious faith, and he would never marry a girl that his parents didn't approve of. He said he realized that a "real" man would probably marry the girl of his choice and disregard his parents' wishes. But material things were his weakness, and if he were to marry me he'd have to change his standard of living, and give up all hope of eventually falling heir to the family business. Should I continue going with him, hoping he will change his mind? Or hope he can get his parents to change theirs? I love him, Abby, and can't give up just like that.

DISQUALIFIED

DEAR DISQUALIFIED: If he can't propose marriage, what does he propose? Run fast, in the other direction, unless you are content just to go with him until he meets a girl of whom his parents will approve.

DEAR ABBY: What would you say about a man who was married to a woman for eight years and didn't know the color of his wife's eyes?

SEEMS IMPOSSIBLE

DEAR SEEMS: I say it's time he took a good look at her driver's license.

DEAR ABBY: My husband, who is a professor at one of the local colleges, is very well-liked by his students. Consequently during the school year we receive many wedding invitations, and we usually accept them all. We are on a very tight budget and must watch our expenditures closely. Is it necessary for us to give the couple a wedding gift if we attend their wedding? Many of our friends who are also teachers (even the single ones) are wondering about this, too. We know the students invite my husband because they want him, and the gift is unimportant.

TIGHT BUDGET

DEAR TIGHT: If you want to attend the wedding, go, and take a gift. It isn't necessary to strain your budget. Browse around in an antique shop, or a book store. You can find some small, appropriate item for a dollar or slightly more. A second-hand book, or paperback edition of one of the classics, selected with the couple's special interest in mind, could be more meaningful than a more pretentious gift.

DEAR ABBY: How do you get rid of the neighbors' kids? Except for eating and sleeping, those kids spend all their time here. We have no youngsters their age for them to play with. We have only one, and she's still an infant. It gets awfully crowded with three and four children in our house all the time. Two of them are old enought to be "all ears" and there is no privacy at all. Sending them home does no good. They come right back again. We can't understand what kind of parents would let their children impose on the neighbors so much. What should we do?

CROWDED

DEAR CROWDED: Don't blame the parents. They probably assume you enjoy having their children in your home because they're there so much. When the youngsters invite themselves in, tell them you are busy, and say it like you mean it.

Gift Shop Guild Plans Annual Tea

Members of Berger Hospital Gift Shop Guild met yesterday to make plans for the annual Silver Tea which is scheduled 2-5 p. m. on Nov. 9, in the guild room at the hospital.

Guilds have purchased many new and unusual gifts and holiday decorations which will be offered for sale at the annual tea.

The public is invited and since quantities are limited patrons are urged to attend early for best selections.

Mrs. George Young and Mrs. Fritz Jacobs are co-chairmen of the committee arranging the tea.

Mrs. Rosemary Mader, guild chairman, pointed out that many hours of planning have gone into the annual project to insure its success. Several members attended gift shows during the summer in Columbus and Cincinnati.

The Gift Shop at the hospital will be open 7-9 p. m. and 1:30 to 3:30 during the afternoons. It will also be open from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m. on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Volunteer workers from the guilds maintain the shop and offer their services to operate it.

Akron Jury Assesses Hospital $250,000

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Monica Shaffer, 40, of Barberton Tuesday was awarded $250,000 by a Summit County Common Pleas Court jury in a neglect suit against Barberton Citizens Hospital.

Mrs. Shaffer chargd that Dr. Thomas P. Moore, a radiologist at the hospital negligently administered anesthetics for an operation called a bronchogram June 3, 1963, during which Mrs. Shaffer's heart stopped.

Plunge Kills Worker

JACKSON, Ohio (AP) — A structural iron worker, working on the demolition of a furnace at the Interlake Iron Co. plant here, fell 30 feet to his death Tuesday. The victim, Tivis Hall of near Athens, died en route to a hospital.

Bake Sale Slated

Berger Hospital Guild 47 will hold a bake sale beginning 9 a. m. Saturday in Kochheiser Hardware.

Guilds have purchased many new and unusual gifts and holiday decorations which will be offered for sale at the annual tea.

The public is invited and since quantities are limited patrons are urged to attend early for best selections.

Mrs. George Young and Mrs. Fritz Jacobs are co-chairmen of the committee arranging the tea.

Mrs. Rosemary Mader, guild chairman, pointed out that many hours of planning have gone into the annual project to insure its success. Several members attended gift shows during the summer in Columbus and Cincinnati.

The Gift Shop at the hospital will be open 7-9 p. m. and 1:30 to 3:30 during the afternoons. It will also be open from 10:30 to 11:30 a. m. on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Volunteer workers from the guilds maintain the shop and offer their services to operate it.

Here's Panorama Of Week's News

EDITOR'S NOTE — A shrine for Wyatt Earp in Iowa. A snake shoot in Georgia. The birth of a fawn in Ohio. These make up glimpses from the U.S. scene this week.

PELLA, Iowa (AP) — There's a move afoot to turn the boyhood home of frontiersman Wyatt Earp into a historical shrine.

The Pella Historical Society has taken an option on the property and plans a drive for funds to buy and restore the building. Another structure nearby would become a museum.

Wyatt Earp, born in Monmouth, Ill., moved to Pella as a boy with his family.

His biographer, Stuart Lake, wrote of a time when Wyatt, then 14, ran away from home and caught a ride to Ottumwa, nearly 50 miles away, to enlist in the Union Army in the Civil War. The effort ended when he ran into his father and was sent home.

After the Civil War, when the Earp family migrated to California, Wyatt started the career that was to make him one of the most famous lawmen of the Old West. His brothers, Morgan and Virgil, joined him and became only slightly less famous.

They and the famous outlaw, John (Doc) Holliday, formed one side of the famed gunfight in the OK Corral at Tombstone, Ariz., in 1881, where Virgil was town marshal and Wyatt was a U.S. marshal.

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — The next time policeman Clyde Harrold goes into anybody's yard to shoot a snake, he says he is going to be certain the occupant knows what is going on.

Harrold, in his private automobile, was flagged down by a woman. She told him a snake was terrifying children in a nearby yard.

Harrold raced to the scene, leaped a hedge, pulled his .38 revolver and began firing at the snake — which later proved to be a harmless racer.

Mrs. Bob Dilly, who lived at the address, didn't know what was happening. She heard the shooting, looked out a window and saw Harrold, who was wearing his uniform, blazing away with his revolver.

She figured he must need help, so she telephoned for reinforcements.

Two patrol cars reached the scene and the occupants ran around the house to the backyard. All stood nonplussed for a moment.

"Well, I hit him six times," said Harrold sheepishly.

But the baby thrived without his aid.

The young one was a fawn, the first born in six years to deer kept by Dr. Charles C. Bayer on his nine-acre private preserve.

The doctor's grandson, Frank Foss, 14, came upon the fawn in some weeds a couple of days after its birth.

Deer are not the only animals on the Bayer place. He also has 75 geese, about 200 ducks, 5 sheep and a flock of bantam chickens — plus various transient animals.

3 SE Ohio Sites Eyed For Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Selection of a site in southeast Ohio for a new $18 million prison will come within the next 30 days, state officials said Tuesday.

Martin A. Janis, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, listed three prime locations:

Jackson County— A 362-acre site offered by county commissioners for $1 as the first parcel of a proposed 1,500-acre prison farm.

Here's How 2 Young Yanks Tried To Get into Service

CHICAGO (AP) — A husky 20-year-old youth is recuperating from an operation he underwent so he could join the Marines. And, if need be, go to Viet Nam.

Tonald Olliges, 20, wanted to join the Marines for some time. His brother, Joseph Jr., 22, has just finished active duty with the Marine Reserves.

However, when Ronald, a 6-foot-1, 220-pounder, was examined for the Marine Corps reserves, he was told he had a hernia. If he had an operation, the Marines said, he could join.

"So I made arrangements and came to the hospital," Olliges said.

The operation was performed last Tuesday. He expects to be released Wednesday.

Of his upcoming military duty, Olliges said from his hospital bed: "If they send me to Viet Nam, O.K. I'll go any place they want me to go to serve my country."

If the United States wins in Viet Nam, he said, "it will stop them (Communists) from trying it other places. Otherwise this thing will just keep on going and we'll have to fight them some place else."

Olliges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Olliges, has been helping his father and brother in the landscaping business since he was graduated from high school two years ago in suburban Roselle.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I only ate things I didn't like," says Merrill W. Plasko II, 19, explaining how he lost 130 pounds so he could join the Army.

Plaskow wanted to join the Army to go to Communications School, but recruiters turned him down last January after his graduation from high school.

Too fat, said the recruiting sergeant. Much too fat. Plaskow weighed 322 pounds then.

Sgt. Maj. Hugh Smith told him to come back when he lost about 200 pounds.

"All right," Plaskow said he told him. 'I'll see you in September or October."

He said he saw at least 15 doctors in an effort to lose the weight before re-applying for enlistment. Nothing seemed to help, so he decided to diet on his own.

"I just stopped eating," he said. "Rather, I changed my eating habits completely. It was hard, but I wanted to get into the Army. I only ate things I didn't like."

Plaskow returned to the recruiting office Monday, a shadow of his former self at 192 pounds.

"I don't believe it," Smith said — and signed him up.

He looks forward to basic training. "It will get me in shape," he said.

Cuban Told His 2 Sons Cannot Leave

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Sixty refugees arrived from Cuba after a three-day shutdown by stormy weather, but Homero Machado, 39, returned empty handed.

"I went to Cuba to bring back my wife and our two sons," the New York hotel busboy said.

'When I reached Camarioca (the refugee departure point), they told me that my boys couldn't go. They are 14 and 15 years old and approaching military age. I made a 3,000-mile trip in vain."

"My wife and children told me 'adios' in a tearful embrace when I left," Machado said.

"I left a piece of my life in Cuba. I fear my wife will not last much longer. She is ill with a nervous disorder."

The refugees brought by the 52-foot A-Bell Monday night carried the total arrivals under the current shuttle to more than 1,300.

Another refugee, Carlos Hernandez, who said he had relatives in Castro's militia, told a newsman that the Cuban government had asked militiamen who wanted to leave to fill out blanks requesting permisssion.

'Then, they arrested all who filled out the blanks," he said. "Many were arrested."

'Hello Dolly' Troupe Is Booked in Korea

SEOUL (AP)—Mary Martin and her "Hello, Dolly!" troupe gave their first performance in Korea Monday night before a capacity audience of more than 3,000 at the Seoul Citizen's Hall.

It was the first time a hit Broadway musical was ever performed in its original language in Korea.

Moscow Radio Solves Flying Saucer Mystery

"Mysterious objects in the sky," it said, "are a myth created by the Pentagon for fanning the war feeling."

Last week Moscow Radio said the great train robbery of August 1963, in which a gang got away with more than 2.5 million pounds ($7 million) was organized by the British intelligence service to bolster its funds.

Rhodes Aide Sees 15 New Negroes in Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Negroes could elect 15 members of the next lgislature under reapportionment plans submitted by Republican state officials to a three-judge federal court, an administration spokesman estimated today.

Llewellyn A. (Jack) Coles, a Negro and an aide to Gov. James A. Rhodes, said at least 12 House members and three senators could win seats.

During the last legislative session, two representatives and one senator were Negroes out of 137 House memebrs and 32 senators.

House members are Reps. Carl B. Stokes, Cleveland Democrat and candidate for mayor in the Nov. 2 election, and David D. Albritton, Dayton Republican and former Ohio State University Olympic star. The only Negro senator, Robert C. Blackburn, Dayton Democrat, was killed Oct. 17 in a traffic accident.

The federal court in Cincinnati has a dozen plans to revamp the Ohio House and Senate under study. Judges are expected to announce soon how Ohio legislators must be elected next year for the 1967 general assembly to conform with the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" directives.

Acting under orders of the fedral judges to submit a proposal after the legislature failed, Ohio's Republican apportionment officials—Rhodes, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and Auditor Roger Cloud, former House speaker—drafted an "official" reapportionment to become law if the court approved. Suits have been filed in other courts to halt newspaper advertising and other efforts to make the plan effective.

The reapportionment provided for 99 House members elected in separate districts of about 97,000 population each and 33 senators in individual districts of approximately 277,000 each. Three House districts would be combined to form each senatorial district.

Because of concentrated Negro populations in major cities, Coles figured that five represenatives could be elected in Cleveland, two each in Columbus and Cincinnati, and one each in Dayton, Youngstown, Toledo ad Akron. The best chance for senators is in Cuyahoga County, he added.

State Grange Honors Go to Paul Dunkle

PAUL M. DUNKLE

Paul M. Dunkle, 109 E. Mound St., was crowned Prince of Ohio State Granges Monday evening at the 93rd annual session of Ohio State Granges at Toledo.

Dunkle was a representative of Pickaway County along with Carol Delong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Delong, near Kingston.

Announcement and crowning of the state winners was held during the youth pageant and talent festival before the entire convention assembly.

Each county selects a prince and a princess candidate to represent them at the convention. The state winners are the respective boy and girl who score highest on a written test given all youths in attendance. The test covers grange ritual and the year's activity of the order. A total of 114 young people took the test.

* * *

Both Miss Delong and Dunkle are members of Saltcreek Valley Grange in Pickaway County. Carol holds the office of lady assistant steward and Dunkle is lecturer and youth chairman. He is also a member of the county youth installation team, being the installing officer.

Dunkle received his crown from Byron Frederick, state master. He was presented a plaque, a gift of the state youth director, Gustav Umbach, and other gifts from the grange and other farm organizations.

The Prince of Granges is the son of Mrs. Elloise Dunkle, Zaleski, and the late Otis Dunkle.

TB Label Day Set Friday

The annual Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. "Label Day" has been scheduled to start 9:30 a. m. Friday at the Lutheran Parish House it was announced today by Mrs. E. E. Hickey, executive secretary of the organization.

Mrs. Hickey pointed out that volunteers will be needed to label and place Christmas seals in envelopes for mailing.

Volunteers are asked to bring a sack lunch. Coffee will be provided.

Judge Rules Auto Owner Responsible

CINCINNATI (AP)—If a person lets somebody else drive his car, he can be punished if the other person is cited for driving without a valid license, a traffic court judge has ruled.

Judge John W. Keefe fined James E. Miller, 29, $50 and suspended his driving rights for 30 days Tuesday after convicting him of allowing another to operate his car without a license.

Miller's attorney had argued at his trial earlier this month that the law says no person shall "authorize or knowingly permit" an unlicensed driver to operate his car. Miller testified he thought John Dockery, 26, had a valid license.

The judge ruled Tuesday that the prosecution does not have to prove both authorization and knowledgeable permission. Authorization is enough, he wrote.

Dockery is now serving a workhouse term for what police said was his fourth conviction of driving without a license.

Churchill's Famed Home To Be Sold

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's famous London home, 28 Hyde Park Gate, will be sold at auction here Thursday and the buyer could be an American, said an official of the auctions — Knight, Frank & Rutley.

The house—really two houses, because it includes No. 27 Hyde Park Gate next door—is expected to bring between $224,000 to $280,000.

The auctioners have imposed no condition of sale concerning the use of the house or who buys it, but a move is under way to have it declared a historic building. It then could not be moved or substantially altered without official approval.

Sir Winston moved into the house during World War II and bought No. 27 for his staff.

Rhodes Aide Sees 15 New Negroes in Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Negroes could elect 15 members of the next lgislature under reapportionment plans submitted by Republican state officials to a three-judge federal court, an administration spokesman estimated today.

Llewellyn A. (Jack) Coles, a Negro and an aide to Gov. James A. Rhodes, said at least 12 House members and three senators could win seats.

During the last legislative session, two representatives and one senator were Negroes out of 137 House memebrs and 32 senators.

House members are Reps. Carl B. Stokes, Cleveland Democrat and candidate for mayor in the Nov. 2 election, and David D. Albritton, Dayton Republican and former Ohio State University Olympic star. The only Negro senator, Robert C. Blackburn, Dayton Democrat, was killed Oct. 17 in a traffic accident.

The federal court in Cincinnati has a dozen plans to revamp the Ohio House and Senate under study. Judges are expected to announce soon how Ohio legislators must be elected next year for the 1967 general assembly to conform with the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" directives.

Acting under orders of the fedral judges to submit a proposal after the legislature failed, Ohio's Republican apportionment officials—Rhodes, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and Auditor Roger Cloud, former House speaker—drafted an "official" reapportionment to become law if the court approved. Suits have been filed in other courts to halt newspaper advertising and other efforts to make the plan effective.

The reapportionment provided for 99 House members elected in separate districts of about 97,000 population each and 33 senators in individual districts of approximately 277,000 each. Three House districts would be combined to form each senatorial district.

Because of concentrated Negro populations in major cities, Coles figured that five represenatives could be elected in Cleveland, two each in Columbus and Cincinnati, and one each in Dayton, Youngstown, Toledo ad Akron. The best chance for senators is in Cuyahoga County, he added.

State Grange Honors Go to Paul Dunkle

PAUL M. DUNKLE

Paul M. Dunkle, 109 E. Mound St., was crowned Prince of Ohio State Granges Monday evening at the 93rd annual session of Ohio State Granges at Toledo.

Dunkle was a representative of Pickaway County along with Carol Delong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Delong, near Kingston.

Announcement and crowning of the state winners was held during the youth pageant and talent festival before the entire convention assembly.

Each county selects a prince and a princess candidate to represent them at the convention. The state winners are the respective boy and girl who score highest on a written test given all youths in attendance. The test covers grange ritual and the year's activity of the order. A total of 114 young people took the test.

* * *

Both Miss Delong and Dunkle are members of Saltcreek Valley Grange in Pickaway County. Carol holds the office of lady assistant steward and Dunkle is lecturer and youth chairman. He is also a member of the county youth installation team, being the installing officer.

Dunkle received his crown from Byron Frederick, state master. He was presented a plaque, a gift of the state youth director, Gustav Umbach, and other gifts from the grange and other farm organizations.

The Prince of Granges is the son of Mrs. Elloise Dunkle, Zaleski, and the late Otis Dunkle.

TB Label Day Set Friday

The annual Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Assn. "Label Day" has been scheduled to start 9:30 a. m. Friday at the Lutheran Parish House it was announced today by Mrs. E. E. Hickey, executive secretary of the organization.

Mrs. Hickey pointed out that volunteers will be needed to label and place Christmas seals in envelopes for mailing.

Volunteers are asked to bring a sack lunch. Coffee will be provided.

Judge Rules Auto Owner Responsible

CINCINNATI (AP)—If a person lets somebody else drive his car, he can be punished if the other person is cited for driving without a valid license, a traffic court judge has ruled.

Judge John W. Keefe fined James E. Miller, 29, $50 and suspended his driving rights for 30 days Tuesday after convicting him of allowing another to operate his car without a license.

Miller's attorney had argued at his trial earlier this month that the law says no person shall "authorize or knowingly permit" an unlicensed driver to operate his car. Miller testified he thought John Dockery, 26, had a valid license.

The judge ruled Tuesday that the prosecution does not have to prove both authorization and knowledgeable permission. Authorization is enough, he wrote.

Dockery is now serving a workhouse term for what police said was his fourth conviction of driving without a license.

Churchill's Famed Home To Be Sold

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's famous London home, 28 Hyde Park Gate, will be sold at auction here Thursday and the buyer could be an American, said an official of the auctions — Knight, Frank & Rutley.

The house—really two houses, because it includes No. 27 Hyde Park Gate next door—is expected to bring between $224,000 to $280,000.

The auctioners have imposed no condition of sale concerning the use of the house or who buys it, but a move is under way to have it declared a historic building. It then could not be moved or substantially altered without official approval.

Sir Winston moved into the house during World War II and bought No. 27 for his staff.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (P) — Congress has come to expect a vacation of two or three month, unlike the rest of the population which considers a job a yearly occupation with perhaps no more than a month off at most.

Thus the moans and groans about fatigue and overwork and the need for rest coming from the Capitol before Congress finally closed up for the year Oct. 23.

The big exception was in 1963 when it stayed until Dec. 30. No peacetime session was ever longer. But in 1964 it quit Oct. 3, in 1962 on Oct. 13, and in 1961 on Sept. 27.

This was a highly productive Congress — President Johnson called it "fabulous" and it was probably the greatest producer in American history — but this very fact raises a question.

Why should such production be so unusual?

It wouldn't be so unusual if Congress generally worked harder, cut out some of the bombast and oratory and stalling and, instead of voting as parties, lined up for or against a piece of legislation on its merits.

There have been few Congresses in history which could not have done more than they did. And in a society like this, with political parties, there will be politics in legislation except perhaps in emergency.

But it's an unhappy reflection on the congressional process when Congress is most productive only in time of national peril or when prodded, driven and guided by a strong president.

The two most productive peacetime Congresses in this century were in the depression days when President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal was trying to avoid disaster and now under Johnson.

Johnson, the most experienced of all presidents in the ways of Congress since he spent 25 years there, happens to be a political genius.

But even this would not have been enough to get his load of major legislation approved this year if the Democrats had not won such overwhelming control of Congress in the 1964 elections.

And even that might not have been enough if Johnson, who has practically no outside recreation except when on his Texas ranch, hadn't worked almost around the clock lining up congressional votes for his legislation.

When this Congress finished, the Republican leaders — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Gerald R. Fod of Michigan — made the usual comments that minority leaders make at a time like this.

Ford complained about the "evils of one-party dominance" and that, under the insistence of Johnson for action, a lot of Democrats didn't know "whether to clap their hands or click their heels." He called this a "hip-pocket Congress."

But the question neither Dirksen, Ford nor anyone has offered an answer to is this: Granted Johnson never got off Congress' back, but why does Congress have to be pushed into a great performance?

Why can't it do the same job on its own? The answer of history seems to be: it is not capable of it by itself. It would be nice to think otherwise but the record speaks for itself.

Isle of Sark Cut Strange Tax Levy

SARK, Channel Islands (AP) — Taxes are down on the Isle of Sark. The Parliament, known as the Chief Pleas, has cut the rate about a penny in the pound. That means roughly that for every $2.80 a man paid before, he'll now pay $2.79.

Sark has no income tax, but something called the atom tax.

Women do not have to pay taxes unless they are widows of obvious substance and wealth. Neither do working men.

The tax to be levied is decided upon by a group called the Douzaine, 12 good Sark men and true, including the president of the island Parliament, William Baker.

2nd White Porpoise Dies in Captivity

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Florida Snowball, the second white porpoise to swim in captive water, has died after only three days on exhibition.

The six-foot male porpoise was found dead this week in the tank that its predecessor, Carolina Snowball, used to occupy before she died last spring. An autopsy indicated Florida Snowball died of natural causes.

Face of Policeman Haunts Tipsy Driver

The policeman opened the door and the man got out. His car was straddling the drivers strip of a freeway with the back wheels spinning in the air.

Police kept him overnight to sober him up.

Man Needs To Learn About His Home--Earth

EDITOR'S NOTE: We three billion persons tend to take our home, the earth, for granted. Yet, we are using up its surface resources, polluting the water, contaminating the air. Associated Press Science Wwiter Alton Blakeslee spotlights "our home— the earth" in the following seventh of a 10-part series on the scientific age.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

It spins at dizzying speed — 1,000 miles per hour— and it races around the sun at 66,960 m.p.h. It's a captive of the sun which is revolving at 630,000 m.p.h. within the Milky Way, which itself is rushing away from other great galaxies at prodigious speed.

It is perhaps 4½ billion years old, born out of a cloud of dust and gases. It depends upon one star — the Sun — to nurture all the life it carries, but otherwise it is self-contained, and has been self-cleansing of its wastes.

Man lives just upon its outer crust or skin, only 25 miles thick on the continents, a mere 3 to 4 miles thick on the ocean floors — no greater relatively than the skin of an apple.

To most people, this spacecraft seems deceptively stable, and unchanging from year to year, a home full of endless natural bounties of air and water and mineral resources.

But to scientists, the earth still abounds with mysteries and challenges calling for answers and opportunities yet untapped.

With many thousands more generations of people likely yet to come to walk this planet, "we simply cannot afford not to know what is really going on" inside, on and above the earth, declares Dr. Lloyd Berkner, an eminent scientist who now is president of the Graduate Research Center of the Southwest in Dallas, Tex.

'We need to know how to predict earthquakes, and now there is promise that we can learn. We need to know how to make rain fall where it is needed, to farm the oceans for food and mine them for minerals, to locate vast deposits of oil and metals hidden somewhere in the earth."

Dr. Berkner was a prime organizer of the International Geophysical Year (IGY) of 1957-58, when scientists of 66 nations pooled their skills and equipment to probe, study and measure as never before the earth's interior, its oceans, atmosphere, weather, magnetism, the great and subtle influences from and relationships with the sun.

In a new international program — the Upper Mantle Project — scientists of 60 countires are probing the earth's crust and investigating it's still-mysterious bulk — the mantle, 1,800 miles thick — below the crust. Under the mantle is the earth's thick molten core, with perhaps a solid metalic core at the very center — 4,000 miles under your feet.

Within a few years, U. S. scientists and engineers hope to dig the "Mohole," drilling through the earth's crust to bring up samples of the yet-untouched mantle. Plans call for drilling from a platform at sea, in water 2½ miles deep, a hole 4½ miles deep to reach the mantle. The Soviet Union also has Mohole plans.

Given more exact knowledge of the oceans, some oceanographers predict men will one day live and play in underwater "suburbs," and catch seven-fold more fish through knowledge of how best to "fertilize" the sea, and even fence off fish "pastures" like grazing areas on land. Already; we are turning salt water into drinking water.

Aloft, weather scientists are winning more precise knowledge of what makes our weather, and how to predict it more accurately. They are begning to find clues to preventing hurricanes and tornadoes, and to control the weather to make rain fall where it is needed. Weather satellites, computers and atomic-powered ocean buoys are some of their new tools.

These are but some of the future potentials for man's greater comfort, convenience and even future survival aboard his planetary spacecraft.

But this earth is, after all, still a confined, enclosed "capsule" and there are increasing concerns as to what man, by his numbers and practices, is doing to his closed environment, how much he may unwittingly be poisoning it.

Man is chewing up surface resources. Industries and home burning fuels are creating vast amounts of carbon dioxide, which may overheat the earth disastrously in a kind of greenhouse effect. Ocean waters contain increasing amounts of lead from the burning of gasoline in automobiles. No one is sure, yet, of the long-run effects of this or other kinds of pollution.

The spinning earth is naturally powered by gravitation in its travels in space. But man needs more and more energy to perform his works. We are developing more and more atomic power plants for more electrical energy to augment natural power from sun-created coal, oil and natural gas, and trying to "tame the H-bomb reaction to draw inexhaustible power from hydrogen atoms in seawater.

Human science, engineering, intelligence and conscience offer reasonable hopes that this planet can long continue as a comfortable home in space.

(Tomorrow: Outer — and Inner — Space)

University Carillon Plays Beatle Song

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — For as long as anyone can remember the carillon bells atop the campanile on the University of California campus have played only hymns, folk melodies and an occasional school fight song.

Mrs. Driggs said the elevator operator handed her the sheet music for the tune when she arrived at the campanile.

"I hummed it and it sounded pleasant. So I played it. And I may play it again," she said.

Woman Cosmonaut Is Visiting Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Valentina V. Tereshkova, the first woman to orbit the earth, and her cosmonaut husband, Andrian G. Nikolayev, are spending a 15-day goodwill visit in Japan.

Free Ticket to Red Area Is Accepted

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — In the wake of recent demonstrations against U.S. policy in Viet Nam, James A. Poulter of Ann Arbor placed an advertisement in the Ann Arbor News offering to pay for a ticket for anyone wishing to move to North Viet Nam or Communist China.

"Dear sir:

"I have just read James A. Poulter's advertisement saying he would pay the cost for anyone to China or Viet Nam who wished to go there.

"I accept his offer, but I will not be able to fulfill my end of the deal until sometime in 1967, 1968 or 1969. But I do appreciate Mr. Poulter's kindness and I do accept if we can make some kind of arrangement that will enable me to accept at a later date.

"Sincerely,

Man Needs To Learn About His Home--Earth

EDITOR'S NOTE: We three billion persons tend to take our home, the earth, for granted. Yet, we are using up its surface resources, polluting the water, contaminating the air. Associated Press Science Wwiter Alton Blakeslee spotlights "our home— the earth" in the following seventh of a 10-part series on the scientific age.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

Three billion people live now on one fabulous spacecraft — the planet Earth.

It spins at dizzying speed — 1,000 miles per hour— and it races around the sun at 66,960 m.p.h. It's a captive of the sun which is revolving at 630,000 m.p.h. within the Milky Way, which itself is rushing away from other great galaxies at prodigious speed.

It is perhaps 4½ billion years old, born out of a cloud of dust and gases. It depends upon one star — the Sun — to nurture all the life it carries, but otherwise it is self-contained, and has been self-cleansing of its wastes.

Man lives just upon its outer crust or skin, only 25 miles thick on the continents, a mere 3 to 4 miles thick on the ocean floors — no greater relatively than the skin of an apple.

To most people, this spacecraft seems deceptively stable, and unchanging from year to year, a home full of endless natural bounties of air and water and mineral resources.

But to scientists, the earth still abounds with mysteries and challenges calling for answers and opportunities yet untapped.

With many thousands more generations of people likely yet to come to walk this planet, "we simply cannot afford not to know what is really going on" inside, on and above the earth, declares Dr. Lloyd Berkner, an eminent scientist who now is president of the Graduate Research Center of the Southwest in Dallas, Tex.

'We need to know how to predict earthquakes, and now there is promise that we can learn. We need to know how to make rain fall where it is needed, to farm the oceans for food and mine them for minerals, to locate vast deposits of oil and metals hidden somewhere in the earth."

Dr. Berkner was a prime organizer of the International Geophysical Year (IGY) of 1957-58, when scientists of 66 nations pooled their skills and equipment to probe, study and measure as never before the earth's interior, its oceans, atmosphere, weather, magnetism, the great and subtle influences from and relationships with the sun.

In a new international program — the Upper Mantle Project — scientists of 60 countires are probing the earth's crust and investigating it's still-mysterious bulk — the mantle, 1,800 miles thick — below the crust. Under the mantle is the earth's thick molten core, with perhaps a solid metalic core at the very center — 4,000 miles under your feet.

The mantle holds major secrets of the earth's origin and history. Here are tremendous sources of energy that created continents and oceans, which spawn volcanoes and earthquakes.

Within a few years, U. S. scientists and engineers hope to dig the "Mohole," drilling through the earth's crust to bring up samples of the yet-untouched mantle. Plans call for drilling from a platform at sea, in water 2½ miles deep, a hole 4½ miles deep to reach the mantle. The Soviet Union also has Mohole plans.

Given more exact knowledge of the oceans, some oceanographers predict men will one day live and play in underwater "suburbs," and catch seven-fold more fish through knowledge of how best to "fertilize" the sea, and even fence off fish "pastures" like grazing areas on land. Already; we are turning salt water into drinking water.

Aloft, weather scientists are winning more precise knowledge of what makes our weather, and how to predict it more accurately. They are begining to find clues to preventing hurricanes and tornadoes, and to control the weather to make rain fall where it is needed. Weather satellites, computers and atomic-powered ocean buoys are some of their new tools.

These are but some of the future potentials for man's greater comfort, convenience and even future survival aboard his planetary spacecraft.

But this earth is, after all, still a confined, enclosed "capsule" and there are increasing concerns as to what man, by his numbers and practices, is doing to his closed environment, how much he may unwittingly be poisoning it.

Man is chewing up surface resources. Industries and home burning fuels are creating vast amounts of carbon dioxide, which may overheat the earth disastrously in a kind of greenhouse effect. Ocean waters contain increasing amounts of lead from the burning of gasoline in automobiles. No one is sure, yet, of the long-run effects of this or other kinds of pollution.

The spinning earth is naturally powered by gravitation in its travels in space. But man needs more and more energy to perform his works. We are developing more and more atomic power plants for more electrical energy to augment natural power from sun-created coal, oil and natural gas, and trying to "tame the H-bomb reaction to draw inexhaustible power from hydrogen atoms in seawater.

Scientists are solving the puzzles of photosyntheseis, or man can artificially increase his agricultural production, to supply the pantry of the spaceship.

Human science, engineering, intelligence and conscience offer reasonable hopes that this planet can long continue as a comfortable home in space.

Perhaps this planetary spacecraft is unique in having intelligent life aboard it. But there are reasons to think we are not alone.

University Carillon Plays Beatle Song

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — For as long as anyone can remember the carillon bells atop the campanile on the University of California campus have played only hymns, folk melodies and an occasional school fight song.

That's why many people stopped short last Thursday when the tower chimes boomed forth with "All My Living," a song from a recent movie starring the Beatles.

Mrs. Driggs said the elevator operator handed her the sheet music for the tune when she arrived at the campanile.

"I hummed it and it sounded pleasant. So I played it. And I may play it again," she said.

Woman Cosmonaut Is Visiting Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Valentina V. Tereshkova, the first woman to orbit the earth, and her cosmonaut husband, Andrian G. Nikolayev, are spending a 15-day goodwill visit in Japan.

Free Ticket to Red Area Is Accepted

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — In the wake of recent demonstrations against U.S. policy in Viet Nam, James A. Poulter of Ann Arbor placed an advertisement in the Ann Arbor News offering to pay for a ticket for anyone wishing to move to North Viet Nam or Communist China.

Today the News received the following letter of accptance.

"Dear sir:

"I have just read James A. Poulter's advertisement saying he would pay the cost for anyone to China or Viet Nam who wished to go there.

"I accept his offer, but I will not be able to fulfill my end of the deal until sometime in 1967, 1968 or 1969. But I do appreciate Mr. Poulter's kindness and I do accept if we can make some kind of arrangement that will enable me to accept at a later date.

"Sincerely,

"No. 83244, Southern Michigan Prison."

U.S. Asks Geneva Arms Panel To Prepare Treaty

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States proposed Tuesday that the 17-nation disarmament committee in Geneva get to work as soon as possible on a treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

A resolution submitted to the General Assembly's main political committee which is debating nonproliferation of nuclear arms, urged the Geneva committee to give top priority to the question.

It asked the 17-nation committee to continue its efforts to reach agreement on a treaty to prevent proliferation of nuclear arms and to seek measures "to halt and turn back the nuclear arms race."

The United States asked the Geneva committee to report back to the general assembly as soon as possible on any progress it makes in framing a nonproliferation treaty.

Court of Appeals OKs Candidate on Ballot

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— The 7th District Court of Appeals has refused to rehear a case seeking disqualification of Joseph Donofrio as a candidate for Municipal Court judge, leaving his name on the ballot for the Nov. 2 election.

The Mahoning County Board of Elections disqualified enough signatures on Donofrio's nominating petitions to make the number of remaining names insufficient to qualify him for candidacy.

Asians Eye Viet Crisis, Say: 'Yankee Stay'

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The storm over American military involvement in South Viet Nam isn't blowing just one way in Southeast Asia.

Along with gusts of criticism against the United States, there is a current of "Yankee, stay" sentiment.

Wellsprings of support for American policy are Thailand, the Philippines, Malaysia and Laos, whose governments and people feel their future is closely linked with the fate of South Viet Nam.

One Malaysian observer cautions: "If Viet Nam goes Communist, for us there may be no tomorrow."

The most strident opposition to U.S. involvement has come from Indonesia and Cambodia, which have bonds with Communist China and North Viet Nam.

Indonesian President Sukarno has condemned what he calls American "intervention and aggression" in South Viet Nam. It remains to be seen whether the recent crisis in Jakarta, with the solidifying of army power there, will mute Indonesia's anti-U.S. outcry.

Little change, if any, can be expected in the attitude of Cambodia. Its chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, sees China as the eventual victor.

Sihanouk is both scornful and angry toward the United States and what he calls the "pretended government" in Saigon. He broke relations with Washington last May after accusing U.S.-Vietnamese forces of intruding into Cambodian territory — where the Viet Cong are said to take refuge.

Singapore, Southeast Asia's newest independent state, has taken a somewhat less than warm line toward the American effort in Viet Nam. Its premier, Lee Kuan Yew, is pessimisic about U.S. ability to sweep back the Communist tide. He claims Americans know nothing about Southeast Asia — "that's why they are in a mess."

But in the Philippines, Thailand and Malaysia, official and popular opinion are running in favor of America's presence in South Viet Nam and its air strikes against the Red North.

Thailand's Communist-hating Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman advocates "careful use of armed force" to prevent a Communist takeover in Viet Nam and eventually in all of Southeast Asia.

A long border with Laos has put Thailand close to the Indochina firing line. The feeling in Bangkok is that if Viet Nam falls, Laos will fall too, and Thailand also.

Thanat Khoman believes that, faced with American military power, the Communists "are beginning to feel that they cannot get what they want. There is no other way to stop aggression."

Although Thai military leaders say they need all their armed strength to meet threats developing along their own borders, Thailand has pitched in with some active help for the American-Viet Nam effort, including use of airfields.

The Thai air force has trained some 30 South Vietnamese pilots, and promises more of the same. Thai medical and development project teams are operating in South Viet Nam. Similar aid is being supplied by the Philippines whose foreign secretary, Mauro Mendez, is known to feel that no action taken by the United States in Viet Nam could be too strong. Neither President Diosdado Macapagal nor his chief opponent, Ferdinand Marcos, has made Viet Nam an issue in their campaigns for Nov. 9 presidential elections. A reliable private poll recently showed that 76 per cent of the Filipinos cheer for the Americans in Viet Nam, with only a few of the remaining 24 per cent actually in opposition.

Although elements in his government would like to see Malaysia take a more neutral stand — in keeping with the country's efforts to win Afro-Asian friendship — Rahman insists the United States has no alternative but to fight.

"It is clear that the Communists were the aggressors. It is wrong to speak of American intervention," he says.

Rahman notes that Malaysia, while saddled with its own defense problems involving hostile Indonesia, is throwing open military centers to South Vietnamese personnel for training in jungle warfare. He recently welcomed Vietnamese Premier Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky.

The influential Straits Times, which does not hesitate to twit the United States on other matters, has praised President Johnson's Viet Nam decisions.

In neutralist Burma, which shares a frontier with Communist China, there has been criticism of U.S. policy — and also of North Viet Nam's refusal to negotiate a peaceful settlement. Burmese condemnation of "power bloc" competition in Viet Nam cuts two ways.

Laos has not let its official neutralist line get in the way of support for the United States. The government of Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma has become increasingly aware of the role played by North Viet Nam and Communist China in stirring up Laotian civil strife. It's acknowledged that American pressure on the North Vietnamese has slackened the Red war effort in Laos.

The American-equipped Laotian air force raids the Ho Chi Minh trail, the jungle corridor in southern Laos used by the North Vietnamese to funnel men and equipment to South Viet Nam.

Ohio Youth Pleads Guilty in Slaying

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A 19-year-old Cincinnati, Ohio, youth one of four charges with the slaying of a gas station attendant, pleaded guilty to third-degree murder Tuesday after the charge against him was lowered from first-degree murder.

Lowering of the charge against Virthel Lee Popplewell and his admission of guilt came in a surprise move in Circuit Court. Sentencing was withheld pending a presentence investigation.

No Quick Success In Viet Nam Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, said Tuesday that even if the "scope of hostilities in Viet Nam were to decline, a sudden phasedown in our strength would not necessarily follow."

He cautioned, also, that "we should have no illusions about our achieving success quickly in Viet Nam."

In an address prepared for the annual session of the Association of the United States Army, Johnson said experience in the Korean War indicates that American commitment in the current Viet Nam struggle could be prolonged.

Dayton Girl Jailed For Smuggling Saw

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old Dayton girl was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $50 and costs Tuesday for smuggling hacksaw blades into the Greene County Jail in a bag of potato chips.

The girl, Betty Metcalf, and Lois May, 17, of Dayton, who has been turned over to juvenile authorities, were accused of smuggling the blades to Jimmy Griffie, 31, and Arthur Fugate, 30, both of Dayton, who were foiled in an attempted jail break.

In an address prepared for the annual session of the Association of the United States Army, Johnson said experience in the Korean War indicates that American commitment in the current Viet Nam struggle could be prolonged.

Dayton Girl Jailed For Smuggling Saw

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old Dayton girl was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $50 and costs Tuesday for smuggling hacksaw blades into the Greene County Jail in a bag of potato chips.

The girl, Betty Metcalf, and Lois May, 17, of Dayton, who has been turned over to juvenile authorities, were accused of smuggling the blades to Jimmy Griffie, 31, and Arthur Fugate, 30, both of Dayton, who were foiled in an attempted jail break.

Summary of Historic Session

Antipoverty Project Is Major Program Won by Administration

EDITOR'S NOTE — Among far-reaching programs approved by the first session of the 89th Congress was the administration's ambitious antipoverty project. This third of five articles examines the subject, and delves into housing programs and beautification as well.

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Poverty-stricken women with a knack for making fruitcake, but no customers; the worker whose assembly line world has collapsed because of automation; the girl too embarrassed to go to school because her shoes are worn out; the fatherless child for whom breakfast is something other people eat.

The motorist irked by billboards between him and autumn's splendors; the soul who finds enjoyment in music, painting, ballet, theater; the man-in-a-hurry wondering how to get from place to place in megalopolis; the nature-lover bemoaning the reported slaughter of wildlife by pesticides.

All these people and millions more could be afected, in greater or lesser degree, by what President Johnson calls the "Great Society" measures passed at the first session of the 89th Congress.

It was a sesion in which appropriation for all purposes hit a peacetime high of about $119.3 billion; in which one supplemental appropriation of $4.7 billion, to help finance 35 "Great Society" programs and other activities, equalled the entire cost of government in the fiscal year 1932.

While critics cried "Pedernales panacea" and accused the Johnson administration of a mammoth boondoggle, Congress took what the President's backers called "a great leap forward" in social welfare. Pedernales is the name of the river at the Johnson Texas ranch.

Almost doubled was the money for Sargent Shriver's antipoverty campaign—from $800 million last fiscal year to $1.5 billion this year. However, the project operated only seven months last year, so the monthly spending rate stays about the same.

By way of example, Shriver's aides like to tell the story of some Negro women in Lafayette, La. They cooked toothsome fruitcake, but too few customers stopped at their roadside stand.

Then, with a $25,000 antipoverty loan, they started a cooperative to run a bakery and market the cake.

"Last Christmas saw them over the hump; they are prospering, and thinking of expanding into candy," a Shriver assistant said.

Community action programs —these, ranging from education in the three R's to job training to clean-up-the-block campaigns, are sort of revolutionary, in that by law poor people must sit on the policy-making committees. There has been much pulling and hauling with established powers-that-be. But Shriver aides say that in Clarksdale, Miss., a Negro civil rights worker sits on a committee with a White Citizens Council man.

VISTA — This is short for Volunteers In Service To America. It is a "domestic Peace Corps," composed mostly of college-age folks, with a sprinlking of retired elderly. Its workers teach the children of migrant laborers, introduce modern cookery and dressmaking to Indian women on reservations, show a town how to get federal funds for a hospital, help retrain the jobless of Appalachia's hills.

Job Corps—The trick here is to train youths for jobs that actually exist. Emphasis is on such trades as welding—there's a crying shortage of welders; mechanics who can do simple auto repairs; hotel jobs; small boat repairs and cookery. At Camp Kilmer, N.J., a veteran Navy cook is readying boys to be chefs at hotels and motels.

Neighborhood Youth Corps — The aim is to prevent school dropouts by providing part-time jobs. In some towns, youngsters work in libraries; at Pasaic, N.J., they help clean a polluted river; on Cape Cod, Mass., they build jetties against beach erosion. Wage: the legal minimum of $1.25 an hour. 'This helps,'' said an antipoverty official, "because how can a kid go to school if he has no shoes."

In retraining adult workers, pitfalls must be watched for. Recently, in New York City, 49 men were trained to maintain air conditioners. But the water-short city clamped restrictions on air conditioning, and the expected jobs did not materialize.

The impoverished mountain folk, and coal miners passed by in automation's progress, will get a chance to help build an $840-million highway network. The aim is to open up hills and valleys for industry and recreation.

Slum squalor and rural blight are attacked in a four-year, $7.5-billion housing authorization bill, featured by a proposed new departure in the form of rent subsidies.

However, the start of these new subsidies was delayed at least until next year when the House bucked at supplying funds. This was a setback for the Johnson administration.

The housing program has many other features, such as grants up to $1,500 to home owners with incomes of $3,000 or less, to repair their rundown properties; provision for 240,000 unit of public housing, 100,000 of which might be obtained by buying or renting existing homes. This could be a boon to the central core of cities, where big old houses are often a wastign asset.

The problems of the cities were much on the mind of Congress. It created an 11th Cabinet department, the Department of Housing and Urban Development. For the moment, it amounts to little more than a changing of name-plates on doors, a regrouping of existing functions.

But for the future, it undoubtedly spells greatly increased attention to the problems of cities, in which 70 per cent of Americans now live.

Transportation, for example. Experts say that a motorist, bucking New York traffic, is lucky if he travels across the city at an average of nine miles an hour.

What happens when megalopolis, a vast city, stretches from Norfolk, Va., to Portland, Maine? Seeking an answer, Congress set up a $90-million study and demonstration program. Emphasis at first will be on high-speed rail transport between Washington and Boston, perhaps eventually whisking passengers at 150 miles an hour.

For the highway traveler who does not fancy billboards, Congress passed Lady Bird Johnson's beautiful highways bill, but the billboard lobby was active, and the measure was a compromise.

It requires states to initiate billboard and junkyard controls along the interstate and primary systems by Jan. 1, 1968. If they don't, they lose 10 per cent of their federal highway aid funds.

Owners of signs which must go, or auto graveyards which must be screened or removed, will be compensated mostly by federal funds. The measure calls for removal of all signs on the primary system, except in designated "commercial or industrial" areas, and on the premises of businesses doing the advertiing.

If, against the billboard lobby, nature lovers did not score an unqualified breakthrough, it was otherwise with those who have argued that the federal government should do more to support the arts.

Before a star-studded audience of Hollywood performers, artists, poets and other humanists, President Johnson signed a $21-million-a-year, three-year bill to set up a national foundation for the arts and humanities.

Johnsno announced plans to create a national repertory theatre to bring ancient and modern classics to the people; support national opera and ballet companies, and subsidize artists to work in schools and universities.

And for the nature lover, Congress authorized a study of the effect of pesticides on fish and wildlife. Thus the nation may know whether it really faces the menace pictured by the late biologist Rachel Carson, in her book "The Silent Spring."

Three County Grid Teams In Loop Tilts

All three Pickaway County High Schools are involved in league football games Friday.

In the South Suburban, Teays Valley hosts Pleasant View. Scioto Valley Conference action finds Logan Elm hosting Piketon and Westfall traveling to Paint Valley.

The Vikings already have suffered two losses in SSL action. They can play only a spoiler role in Friday's tilt.

Pleasant View has defeated Franklin Heights and Hamilton Twp. in league play and is assured of at least a tie for the loop title.

* * *

THE VIKINGS have lost to both of these schools and are out of contention for the league crown.

Westfall lost five straight games, including a loop contest to Piketon. But the last two tilts have been wins for the Mustangs and the 8-6 victory over Logan Elm was a conference encounter.

At Westfall, the Mustangs won 34-6 over Paint Valley Oct. 15 and Coach Joe Duncan is hoping for a repeat of that performance in the "game that counts."

Logan Elm's losses in the league have been to Uniota and to Westfall. These defeats have knocked the Braves out of contention for the title.

But a keen rivalry has developed between Ron Jones' Piketon Redstreaks and the Braves of Jim Colville.

Gophers Looking Forward to OSU

"Not playing each other before," Warmath told the Chicago Football Writers meeting Tuesday, "Woody and I have always gotten along splendidly."

Hayes is dean of Big Ten coaches, now in his 15th season at Ohio State, and Warmath is in his 12th Gopher season, but Saturday's game at Columbus will mark their first meeting on the field. The teams last met in 1951.

Detroit Plunges Into NBA Cellar

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Pistons, rocked by early injuries to three key players and then rattled by the deadly shooting of ex-teammate Don Ohl, have slipped into the National Basketball Association's Western Division cellar.

Ohl, traded from Detroit to Baltimore after the 1963-64 season, sparked the visiting Bullets to a 117-98 romp over the crippled Pistons Tuesday night with a 27-point barrage.

In the only other game played, the Lakers came from behind and edged the New York Knickerbockers 104-102 in Los Angeles. The victory was the Lakers' 14th straight over the Knicks at home.

CHS Harriers Win Final Meet, 21-37

Circleville High School's cross country track team closed out a successful season last night, defeating visiting Reynoldsburg, 21-37.

The win gave the Tiger harriers a 5-2 season mark, the first winning record compiled in the three years cross country track has been a varsity sport.

THIRD and fourth places went to John Manifold and Erving Christianson of Reynoldsburg.

Robbie Adkins was fifth with a time of 10:52, Jimmy Diltz sixth in 10:58 and Larry Morgan seventh in 10:59.

Dave LaBounty, CHS cross country coach, said it was the first time five Tiger harriers have gone in less than 11 minutes.

Rounding out the Circleville competitors in the meet were Mel Smith, who finished ninth, posting a best ever time of 11:08 for a Tiger frosh and Joe Winner, who placed 11th with a time of 11:20.

New Redleg Pilot Says He Is No 'Book' Manager

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—"I wasn't a 'book' player and I'm not a 'book' manager," is how Don Heffner describes the way he is going to manage the Cincinnati Reds' baseball team.

The 54-year-old Heffner, who once played second base on the same New York Yankees' team as Babe Ruth, was named to the job Tuesday. He succeeds Dick Sisler, who was dismissed as manager on Oct. 4 after the Red folded in the final week and ended the season in fourth place.

Heffner's new boss is an old friend, Reds' President-General Manager Bill DeWitt, who gave him his first minor league manager's job in 1947 with the St. Louis Browns' organization. Heffner had been a coach with the New York Mets for the last two seasons. He has a two year contract with the Reds at an undisclosed salary.

"There are times to gamble and there are times to be conservative," said the pipe-smoking Heffner, discussing his baseball strategy.

"Take this situation: your lead-off man in the first inning hits a double down either line and everybody in the park knows it's a sure double. I'll settle for the double and don't believe in having the man try to stretch it into three unless it's obvious that he can go into third base standing up."

If there were one out when the batter hit the double, he would send the man on to third, Heffner added.

In disclosing Heffner's appointment at a news conference, DeWitt said he had talked to about six other candidates for the job. Heffner's name as the next Cincinnati manager was mentioned several times during the World Series, but both he and DeWitt said they came to terms only Monday.

Heffner — known as Jeep in his playing days — was born Feb. 8, 1911, at Rouzerville, Pa. He broke into the majors in 1934 with the Yankees, and after four seasons moved on to St. Louis where DeWitt was then vice president-general manager. Later he played for Philadelphia and Detroit in the American League.

Before becoming manager of the Reds' former Pacific Coast League affiliate, Heffner also served as a coach for the Kansas City Athletics and the Detroit Tigers.

Tulsa End Named Lineman of Week

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa end Howard Willey and his battery mate, quarterback Billy Anderson, are a couple of perfectionists who won't be satisfied as long as some passes miss the mark.

Willey, named Lineman of the Week for his performance last Saturday in Tulsa's 49-6 win over Cincinnati, was still disgusted over the one he missed when informed of the honor.

In the meantime, he's caught 73 (enough to win the NCAA pass receiving title in any year but 1964 when he won it with 95) for 1,014 yards and seven touchdowns.

In the Cincinnati game, Tulsa's sixth of the season, he caught 14 passes for 226 yards and two touchdowns. He also kicked a conversion and caught a conversion pass.

AP Guesspert Says Spartans Sure To Win

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It is getting to be the time for the traditional college football game. That means, they are traditionally tough to pick.

Last week's selections brought the season average to .727.

Michigan State over Northwestern — Lightning does strike twice in the same spot but will it strike four times? Three times previously under Coach Duffy Daugherty the Spartans have been tagged the nation's best only to be upset in the next game. This week they again are No. 1—but the lesson has been learned.

Arkansas over Texas A&M — The schedule maker has been kind to Arkansas since its terrific triumph over Texas.

Nebraska over Missouri — The Huskers have the nation's best total and rushing offenses and lead in team scoring. They also have a dual carburetor in quarterbacks Bob Churchich and Fred Duda. Against this, Missouri offers Charlie Brown.

Notre Dame over Navy — The Middies have no answer for Notre Dame's Larry Conjar and Nick Rassas.

Louisiana State and Alabama over Mississippi and Mississippi State — A college football doubleheader played on a neutral field at Jackson, Miss., with Alabama and Mississippi State playing the daylight half.

Texas over Southern Methodist — Who can remember when Texas lost three Southwest Conference games in a row?

Georgia Tech over Duke — Scotty Glacken, Duke quarterback, hurt and likely will not play again this year.

Oregon State over Washington State — The Cougars have beaten three Big Ten teams, but Oregon State is a member of Coast Conference.

Ohio State over Minnesota, Bowling Green over Miami, Cincinnati over North Texas State, Ohio University over Dayton, Iowa over Indiana, Michigan over Wisconsin, Toledo over Kent State, Xavier over Villanova.

Jim Brown Gets Top Vote as NFL Offensive Star

NEW YORK (AP) — This has to be Jim Brown Week. The Cleveland fullback has been making news every day, lugging a football, talking about retirement, signing to handle a fight telecast in Toronto. Or just talking about Jim Brown and the Browns.

Brown's tremendous performance Sunday against the New York Giants was enough to earn Associated Press recognition as the Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Jim had plenty of competition. Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins hit with 12 of 14 passes, the last 10 in a row, in leading his mates to an upset victory over Philadelphia.

Fran Tarkenton scrambled and set a career record of 407 yards passing by completing 21 of 35 in the wild Minnesota-San Francisco game. Rudy Bukick had a hot hand for the Chicago Bears. John Unitas did it again for Baltimore, throwing three touchdown passes and running for another score.

But it was Brown with 177 yards rushing in 24 carries at Yankee Stadium who stole the headlines. Jim also caught three passes for 18 yards and surprised everybody by throwing a 39-yard TD pass to Gary Collins. All in all, Brown accounted for 234 yards in Cleveland's 38-14 romp.

"This was the greatest single game effort I have ever seen by Jim," said owner Art Modell of the Browns after the game. His teammates felt the same way. Capt. Galen Fiss gave him the game ball.

It was a week like that for Brown, whose total of 738 yards in only six games gives him a shot at his own all-time record of 1,863 in 1963.

TB AND ASTHMA

Q. If a person has asthma is he more likely to catch tuberculosis?
A. Apparently not. Statistics show that tuberculosis occurs no more often among asthmatics than among non-asthmatics.

DAYS OF PREGNANCY

Q. What is the duration, in days, of normal pregnancy?
A. Calculated from the last menstrual period, it has been variously given as 290 to 304 days. However, several years ago medical authorities testified before the Supreme Court of New York that a pregnancy extending for 355 days was "not impossible."

HERNIA

Q. Will exercise strengthen the stomach muscles and make a hernia go away?
A. No. The weak point in the abdomen consists of overlapping layers of fibrous tissue — not muscle—and fibrous tissue doesn't respond to exercise as does muscle. Anyone with a hernia who engages in strenuous exercise is inviting trouble. With certain exceptions, hernias should be corrected surgically.

Three County Grid Teams In Loop Tilts

All three Pickaway County High Schools are involved in league football games Friday.

In the South Suburban, Teays Valley hosts Pleasant View. Scioto Valley Conference action finds Logan Elm hosting Piketon and Westfall traveling to Paint Valley.

The Vikings already have suffered two losses in SSL action. They can play only a spoiler role in Friday's tilt.

Pleasant View has defeated Franklin Heights and Hamilton Twp. in league play and is assured of at least a tie for the loop title.

* * *

THE VIKINGS have lost to both of these schools and are out of contention for the league crown.

Westfall lost five straight games, including a loop contest to Piketon. But the last two tilts have been wins for the Mustangs and the 8-6 victory over Logan Elm was a conference encounter.

At Westfall, the Mustangs won 34-6 over Paint Valley Oct. 15 and Coach Joe Duncan is hoping for a repeat of that performance in the "game that counts."

Logan Elm's losses in the league have been to Unioto and to Westfall. These defeats have knocked the Braves out of contention for the title.

But a keen rivalry has developed between Ron Jones' Piketon Redstreaks and the Braves of Jim Colville.

Hayes is dean of Big Ten coaches, now in his 15th season at Ohio State, and Warmath is in his 12th Gopher season, but Saturday's game at Columbus will mark their first meeting on the field. The teams last met in 1951.

TB AND ASTHMA

Q. If a person has asthma is he more likely to catch tuberculosis?

A. Apparently not. Statistics show that tuberculosis occurs no more often among asthmatics than among non-asthmatics.

DAYS OF PREGNANCY

Q. What is the duration, in days, of normal pregnancy?

A. Calculated from the last menstrual period, it has been variously given as 290 to 304 days. However, several years ago medical authorities testified before the Supreme Court of New York that a pregnancy extending for 355 days was "not impossible."

HERNIA

Q. Will exercise strengthen the stomach muscles and make a hernia go away?

A. No. The weak point in the abdomen consists of overlapping layers of fibrous tissue — not muscle—and fibrous tissue doesn't respond to exercise as does muscle. Anyone with a hernia who engages in strenuous exercise is inviting trouble. With certain exceptions, hernias should be corrected surgically.

Miami Given Chance in Mid-Am

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Someone forgot to tell Coach Bo Schembechler that his Miami football team was supposed to be down this year.

The resurgent Redskins, who started out like they never were going to win a ball game, evened their record at 3-3 last weekend in a 34-0 rout of winless Ohio University.

Now Miami looks like the team to beat in the Mid-American Conference as it prepares for an invasion of Bowling Green Saturday in the league's top attraction.

If Bowling Green (3-0) prevails, the Falcons are almost a cinch to take their second straight title. If the Redskins (3-1) triumph, it could lead to their first championship since 1958.

Schembechler, obviously delighted with his team's recent play, said "We are a young team that is playing well and getting better every game."

But, he added cautiously:

"We'll have to play better than at any time this year to beat them."

The Falcons squeaked by Kent State 7-6 last week and Western Michigan nipped Toledo on a field goal in the dying seconds in other league action. Marshall dropped its second straight, a 23-7 decision to Louisville.

Schembechler calls Bowling Green a strong team "with great personnel. They're big, strong and like to run. We're smaller and quicker and like to throw more."

Schembechler said, "Tremendous improvement in our defense has been a big factor in our winning."

Miami Given Chance in Mid-Am

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Someone forgot to tell Coach Bo Schembechler that his Miami football team was supposed to be down this year.

The resurgent Redskins, who started out like they never were going to win a ball game, evened their record at 3-3 last weekend in a 34-0 rout of winless Ohio University.

Now Miami looks like the team to beat in the Mid-American Conference as it prepares for an invasion of Bowling Green Saturday in the league's top attraction.

If Bowling Green (3-0) prevails, the Falcons are almost a cinch to take their second straight title. If the Redskins (3-1) triumph, it could lead to their first championship since 1958.

Schembechler, obviously delighted with his team's recent play, said "We are a young team that is playing well and getting better every game."

But, he added cautiously:

"We'll have to play better than at any time this year to beat them."

The Falcons squeaked by Kent State 7-6 last week and Western Michigan nipped Toledo on a field goal in the dying seconds in other league action. Marshall dropped its second straight, a 23-7 decision to Louisville.

Kent (2-1-1) still with a mathematical chance to win, plays at Toledo (1-3) and Marshall (1-1) goes against Western (1-2-1) at Kalamazoo.

Outside the league, Ohio U. (0-3) gets its best chance to break into the victory column when it plays at Dayton (0-5-1).

Schembechler calls Bowling Green a strong team "with great personnel. They're big, strong and like to run. We're smaller and quicker and like to throw more."

Teachers Hold Banquet at Teays Valley

The annual Pickaway County Teachers Assn. banquet was held last night at Teays Valley High School.

Principal speakers at the fete were Byron Morton, assistant state superintendent of instruction, and Dr. Raymond Hart, coordinator in charge of Federal Education Act for the state department of education.

The speakers were introduced by George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools.

The banquet was prepared by the Teays Valley Home economics department under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Tootle and Mrs. Virginia Barrett.

* * *

PRESIDING over the business session was Paul Hoskins of Westfall, president of the organization. Vice president is Owen Duncan of Logan Elm and Mrs. Phoebe Engle of Teays Valley is the secretary-treasurer.

The business session included a report from the nominating committee, presented by Robert DeVold of Walnut Twp.

He announced Duncan will move up to the presidency. Roger Southward of Teays Valley was named vice president for next year and Ann Short of Jackson secretary-treasurer.

Polaris Sub Franklin Joins Navy's Fleet

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—The Polaris-firing submarine Benjamin Franklin has joined the Navy's nuclear-powered fleet.

Cincinnatian Gets Second Life Sentence

The three common pleas judges who convicted him Oct. 20 of first degree murder, Tuesday refused to grant a new trial and sentenced him to life imprisonment.

Counsel for the 53-year-old Cincinnati man argued for his acquittal on the grounds that he was insane at the time he shot and killed his 30-year-old stepson, Michael McIntosh, on June 11, 1961.

Police say the slaying apparently stemmed from an argument over the younger man's testimony at the 1952 trial when McIntosh was convicted of killing Carl Hyatt during a dispute over car payments.

The murder conviction was commuted to manslaughter by former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, and McIntosh was paroled in 1960.

General Tele Installs Its 300,000th Phone

TROY, Ohio (AP) — General Telephone Co., which reports it has tripled in size in the last 10 years, announced the installation of its 300,000th telephone Tuesday night.

The company presented a replica of the milestone telephone to 17-year-old Patty Mertz of Troy, in whose home the phone was installed.

Ecuador Signs Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ecuador has signed a contract with the U.S. government's Export-Import Bnak for $5.5 million purchase equipment for four government-owned hospitals.

SAFETY AWARD — The Circleville Kiwanis Club has earned an award from the State Department of Highways for its annual auto safety check. Presenting the award is Sgt. J. W. Pribble of the Circleville Highway Patrol Post. Kiwanians W. W. Story (left) and Dr. Robert Liggett (center) accept the framed certificate of recognition. Sgt. Pribble noted one car in six was found defective this year by Kiwanians. He said many autos were equipped with seat belts but occupants did not have them fastened.

Children's Fund Is Under Phone Attack

The Nobel Prize was awarded to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF). Children on Halloween collect pennies for UNICEF.

The recording, entitled "Let Freedom Ring" says "This UN organization gets gullible American parents to have their children go panhandling on Halloween for the world welfare state instead of traditional American trick or treat."

The recording also charges that large amounts of money collected by UNICEF go to Communist countries.

Robert G. King, district commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. here, said Ohio Bell has no control over the recording.

King said the service was purchased by a Canton man who said the "Let Freedom Ring" movement is sponsored by a doctor in Sarasota, Fla.

Mrs. Paul Moon, chairman of the Central Stark County Inter-Faith Committee for UNICEF, said "We don't have any money for lawsuits. All our money goes to UNICEF. We probably will simply ignore it."

8,000 Too Many Sign For Peace Corps Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unexpected influx of applicants for its 67 conservation camps has the Job Corps in a bind: It now has 8,000 young men and women signed up with no place to send them.

Eighteen more conservation camps are scheduled to open this year and a spokesman said that should ease the current 10-week lag between application and acceptance of new recruits.

New Patrol Chief Proud of His Outfit

Chiaramonte, named to the top post by Gov. James A. Rhodes Tuesday, said he believes both the efficiency and public image of the patrol are "tops" and that it is "the finest law enforcement agency in the nation."

Chiaramonte, who has been assistant superintendent, succeeds Col. Anson B. Cook, 55, who resigned to become director of the new Ohio Peace Officers Training Council. Chiaramonte, a 23-year veteran of the patrol, also gets Cook's rank of colonel.

Shortly after Chiaramonte's appointment, Maj. Clifford E. Reich, also 45 was named to succeed him as assistant superintendent.

In his climb up the ranks, Chiaramonte, a native of Ashtabula county served in the Warren and Geneva posts and as an instructor at the Patrol Academy.

Machinists Union Ends Toledo Strike

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Forty employes at the McKesson Appliance Co., members of the Machinists Union, returned to their jobs today, ending a strike that began two weeks ago.

They reached agreemnt with the company on a new contract Tuesday.

Teachers Hold Banquet at Teays Valley

The annual Pickaway County Teachers Assn. banquet was held last night at Teays Valley High School.

Principal speakers at the fete were Byron Morton, assistant state superintendent of instruction, and Dr. Raymond Hart, coordinator in charge of Federal Education Act for the state department of education.

The speakers were introduced by George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools.

The banquet was prepared by the Teays Valley Home economics department under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Tootle and Mrs. Virginia Barrett.

* * *

PRESIDING over the business session was Paul Hoskins of Westfall, president of the organization. Vice president is Owen Duncan of Logan Elm and Mrs. Phoebe Engle of Teays Valley is the secretary-treasurer.

The business session included a report from the nominating committee, presented by Robert DeVold of Walnut Twp.

He announced Duncan will move up to the presidency. Roger Southward of Teays Valley was named vice president for next year and Ann Short of Jackson secretary-treasurer.

Music for the program was provided by the Logan Elm boys' octet under the direction of Robert Petty.

Polaris Sub Franklin Joins Navy's Fleet

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—The Polaris-firing submarine Benjamin Franklin has joined the Navy's nuclear-powered fleet.

Cincinnatian Gets Second Life Sentence

The three common pleas judges who convicted him Oct. 20 of first degree murder, Tuesday refused to grant a new trial and sentenced him to life imprisonment.

Counsel for the 53-year-old Cincinnati man argued for his acquittal on the grounds that he was insane at the time he shot and killed his 30-year-old stepson, Michael McIntosh, on June 11, 1961.

Police say the slaying apparently stemmed from an argument over the younger man's testimony at the 1952 trial when McIntosh was convicted of killing Carl Hyatt during a dispute over car payments.

The murder conviction was commuted to manslaughter by former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, and McIntosh was paroled in 1960.

General Tele Installs Its 300,000th Phone

TROY, Ohio (AP) — General Telephone Co., which reports it has tripled in size in the last 10 years, announced the installation of its 300,000th telephone Tuesday night.

The company presented a replica of the milestone telephone to 17-year-old Patty Mertz of Troy, in whose home the phone was installed.

Ecuador Signs Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ecuador has signed a contract with the U.S. government's Export-Import Bnak for $5.5 million purchase equipment for four government-owned hospitals.

SAFETY AWARD — The Circleville Kiwanis Club has earned an award from the State Department of Highways for its annual auto safety check. Presenting the award is Sgt. J. W. Pribble of the Circleville Highway Patrol Post. Kiwanians W. W. Story (left) and Dr. Robert Liggett (center) accept the framed certificate of recognition. Sgt. Pribble noted one car in six was found defective this year by Kiwanians. He said many autos were equipped with seat belts but occupants did not have them fastened.

Children's Fund Is Under Phone Attack

The Nobel Prize was awarded to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF). Children on Halloween collect pennies for UNICEF.

The recording, entitled "Let Freedom Ring" says "This UN organization gets gullible American parents to have their children go panhandling on Halloween for the world welfare state instead of traditional American trick or treat."

The recording also charges that large amounts of money collected by UNICEF go to Communist countries.

Robert G. King, district commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. here, said Ohio Bell has no control over the recording.

King said the service was purchased by a Canton man who said the "Let Freedom Ring" movement is sponsored by a doctor in Sarasota, Fla.

Mrs. Paul Moon, chairman of the Central Stark County Inter-Faith Committee for UNICEF, said "We don't have any money for lawsuits. All our money goes to UNICEF. We probably will simply ignore it."

8,000 Too Many Sign For Peace Corps Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unexpected influx of applicants for its 67 conservation camps has the Job Corps in a bind: It now has 8,000 young men and women signed up with no place to send them.

Eighteen more conservation camps are scheduled to open this year and a spokesman said that should ease the current 10-week lag between application and acceptance of new recruits.

New Patrol Chief Proud of His Outfit

Chiaramonte, named to the top post by Gov. James A. Rhodes Tuesday, said he believes both the efficiency and public image of the patrol are "tops" and that it is "the finest law enforcement agency in the nation."

Chiaramonte, who has been assistant superintendent, succeeds Col. Anson B. Cook, 55, who resigned to become director of the new Ohio Peace Officers Training Council. Chiaramonte, a 23-year veteran of the patrol, also gets Cook's rank of colonel.

Shortly after Chiaramonte's appointment, Maj. Clifford E. Reich, also 45 was named to succeed him as assistant superintendent.

Reich, a native of Wooster, was promoted to lieutenant colonel effective Nov. 1, when the promotions take effect.

In his climb up the ranks, Chiaramonte, a native of Ashtabula county served in the Warren and Geneva posts and as an instructor at the Patrol Academy.

Machinists Union Ends Toledo Strike

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Forty employes at the McKesson Appliance Co., members of the Machinists Union, returned to their jobs today, ending a strike that began two weeks ago.

They reached agreemnt with the company on a new contract Tuesday.

Keith D. Wagner

Your Councilman Speaks . . .

This requires individuals who care about their community, the problems to be faced, and who are willing to carry their share of the political and civic responsibility for solving them.

On November 2, Circleville voters will determine the leaders who are responsible for public affairs closest to their lives.
